Jail Break Inquiry Under Way

As the royal commission inquiry into the Boyd gang's escape from Toronto's Don jail September 8 got under way today, Col. Hedley Basher, deputy minister of reforms institutions, was expected to be the first witness. A former governor of the 88-year-old jail, he has been acting governor since the suspension of T. W. Brand. Above, Col. Basher (left) is seen talking with Hon. Rev. J. W. Foote, minister of reforms institutions (right) and Sheriff J. D. Conover, centre. (CP Photo.)

Grain Flow Hit As Strike Nears

Record Wheat Crop Shipments Slacken As Grain Handlers in Last-Ditch Session

OTTAWA, Sept. 17 (CP).—The movement of prairie grain to its major outlet at Port Arthur and Fort William began slowing to a halt Tuesday with a federal government embargo on all further railway loading of grain for the lakehead.

18 U.S. Reds Arrested for Conspiracy

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (AP).—The United States justice department announced today the arrest of 18 mid-west and west-coast Communist party leaders on charges of conspiring to advocate overthrow of the government by force and violence.

Attorney General James McGranery and F.B.I. Director J. Edgar Hoover said those arrested included the leaders of the party in Missouri, Washington State and Michigan.

Arrests were made in St. Louis, Rock Island, Ill., Charleston, Mo., Seattle, Detroit, Los Angeles, Portland and Eugene, Ore., Chicago and Minneapolis.

Among those arrested was Helen Mary Winter, 44, wife of Carl Winter, one of the 11 top Communist leaders convicted in New York in 1949.

Mrs. Winter, picked up in Detroit, has been Michigan State organizational secretary of the party.

Others arrested are Dorothy Rose Forest, 37, James Frederick Forest, 42, and William Sentner, 45, all of St. Louis, and Marcus Alphonse Murphy, 44, of Charleston, Mo.

FALL FASHION SECTION TO BE ISSUED THURSDAY

"Fall Fashion Time," a special 10-page section with the latest in women's styles for the season, will be issued Thursday with the regular edition of The Times. Publication of the section, originally scheduled for today, was delayed 24 hours.

Gruber May Be Starting His Last Season Here

Symphony conductor Hans Gruber today would not confirm nor deny a report that he would resign at the end of this season and make way for his concertmaster, Clifford Evans of Vancouver.

The rumor has been discussed in the orchestra, which had its first rehearsal last night.

It stems from the fact that Mr. Evans is to conduct the second last concert of the new season, March 2, as well as appear in a violin duet with Gertrude Bates.

This is the first time Gruber has turned over the conductor's baton in a regular subscription concert, and some orchestra members feel it has "significance."

The young maestro seemed temporarily nonplussed when confronted with the question by The Times today.

"There is nothing immediate," he said. "I have not discussed it with my symphony directors."

"Mr. Evans is a very talented and deserving young musician, who has been of great value to the Victoria symphony. He has frequently conducted on the C.B.C. and elsewhere and conducted our orchestra in rehearsal."

"Appreciating his interest in this aspect of orchestral work, I have invited him to take over the podium on March 2."

"If and when I leave Victoria, I am sure Clifford Evans would prove a very excellent successor. But I am not aware that there is anything doing at the moment."

J. F. K. English, symphony society president, was out of town and not available for comment.

Lewis, Hard Coal Industry Reach Accord

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (AP).—John L. Lewis and the United States anthracite industry reached an interim agreement today to keep producing hard coal after their contract expires Oct. 1.

The temporary agreement, to be effective until a new contract is negotiated, calls for a boost in the royalty paid by the hard coal mine owners to the United Mine Workers' welfare fund from 30 to 50 cents a ton.

Both the union and spokesmen for the anthracite industry said they recognize there is need for a boost in the royalty per ton of hard coal produced in order to finance present benefits paid miners from the fund.

Lewis told a press conference he considers the temporary agreement a tribute to the wisdom of both sides to keep the anthracite industry producing until a final contract can be negotiated.

Made Escape By Themselves Says Leader

Took Off 20 Pounds To Get Through Bars

TORONTO, Sept. 17 (CP).—Edwin Boyd said today he took off 20 pounds to escape through a hole cut through the bars of the death row cell block at Don jail September 8.

"It took us nearly a month to cut through those bars," he said in a first-person story in the Telegram.

"Where did we get the saws? They were brought in, that's all I'll tell you."

"How did we get out of the cells? With a key made from a spoon and tin cup handle. That key opened all the doors."

"We had only one period a day that we could use the saws to cut through the bars. That was from 5.20 to 7 a.m., when there was no danger of a guard entering our cell corridor to punch the clock."

Every morning the sawing went on. The gang was helped by the absence on holidays of a senior deputy who made it a rule to test all the bars on the windows and rattle the bars on the cells on any inspection he made.

"We used shoe blackening and pieces of cardboard to fill in the places where we sawed through. But if any of the guards had hit the bars they would have fallen apart. Every day we hid the cell key and the hacksaw blades in a crack in the floor at the end of the corridor."

"We didn't know how well guarded the jail was from the outside but we felt that if we made our bid in the dark we would have a better chance."

Accomplice May Have Helped

Police say they are not convinced the desperadoes escaped through the 9-by-13-inch opening in the bars. Another theory is that they were let out a side door of the jail by an accomplice.

"We had taken off 20 pounds each to crawl through this opening," Boyd said. "I didn't have much trouble making it, but for the others it was a tight squeeze."

"From the ledge we jumped on to a retaining wall and then crawled on our knees along the 18-foot high wall between the two rear yards."

"We lay flat on our stomachs on the top of the wall until both police and guards passed out of sight. We scrambled down that wall in record time."

The four made their way up railway tracks in the Don valley in east Toronto.

They hid in bushes all day. They spent the first night in the valley a mile from the jail.

The second night they reached their hideout, the empty house and barn in North York in which they were later captured.

"How we got there and why we picked that particular barn, I'm not telling. It was a good hideout but, it was sure dirty."

Driven Directly to Hideout

Police said today they believe criminal associates met the four outside the jail and drove them directly to the hideout, furnishing them with money, extra clothing and an artificial foot for Leonard Jackson.

Boyd continued: "We had money to buy food but we were afraid to trust our luck too far and attempt to buy some at a store."

"So we did the next best thing. We raided the neighboring farms at night and stole potatoes, tomatoes and corn. We built a bonfire deep in the bush and tried to cook these vegetables. They were half-cooked or burned, but they kept us from starving."

"Because of the large manhunt we decided to stay in the bush during the day and to sleep in the barn at night. But our stomachs got the better of us. We wanted bread, tobacco and milk."

"Willie Jackson volunteered to be our supply man. He argued that he was the least known of the four of us and could disguise himself better. He cut his hair and shaved off the front part and tried a tobacco store on Yonge Street first."

Went Shopping for Groceries

"Then he got hold of and went shopping for groceries. He went to Yonge Street store and bought bread and cans of beans. He was even able to pick up some news about the manhunt, the number of guards that had been suspended and how they were going to hold a royal commission inquiry into our escape."

"But he didn't tell me anything about my wife pleading in the press and over the radio to give myself up. If he had I would have surrendered at once. There would be no other course to take."

McGuire Would Seek C.B.R.E. Presidency

OTTAWA, Sept. 17 (BUP).—James E. McGuire, deposed secretary-treasurer of Canada's biggest railway union, said today if he were reinstated he would run for the presidency of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees against its founder, 72-year-old A. R. Mosher.

McGuire, who left the C.B.R.E. convention for luncheon recess in the third day of his fight for reinstatement appearing happy at the trend of the battle, was confident of victory.

Search continued in the Cariboo area today for Mrs. Eva Lebourdais, 27, Quenest, and her nine-month-old baby, missing since she left her home early Saturday morning.

Two Gang Members Plead Not Guilty

Steve Suchan and Leonard Jackson Booked For the Murder of Toronto Police Officer

TORONTO, Sept. 17 (BUP).—Two members of the notorious Boyd gang, handcuffed and heavily guarded, pleaded innocent in court today to a charge of murdering Toronto Detective Sergeant Edmund Tong.

TORONTO, Sept. 17 (CP).—Less than 24 hours after their capture, Steve Suchan and Leonard Jackson were scheduled to go on trial today for the murder last March of Detective-Sergeant Edmund Tong.

The two, whom North York police Tuesday night flushed out of a deserted barn together with Edwin Boyd and William Jackson, were to appear in court today. They also are charged with the attempted murder of detective Roy Perry.

Boyd and William Jackson may possibly be tried next Monday on bank robbery charges.

Crown Attorney William Gibson said indictments against Suchan and Leonard Jackson were returned the day they escaped from Don jail eight days ago.

Boyd, Canada's public enemy No. 1, surrendered meekly with his henchmen to two suburban detectives Tuesday night, bringing to an anticlimactic end the greatest criminal manhunt in Canada's history.

The four men who startled the country with their break from Toronto's Don jail eight days ago and set off a "shoot-to-kill" police search, gave in without a battle one of them muttering, "Don't shoot."

Police reported today 16 incendiary fires in the West Kootenay Doukhobor country this year. Several fires were reported in the last two weeks.

Two Doukhobors, members of the radical Sons of Freedom, now are in custody, both charged with arson.

Police today announced the arrest of Nick Konkin, a member of the Doukhobor colony at Brilliant. He has been charged with arson, but police did not disclose details of the case. He will appear in Nelson police court next week.

Last week, Paul Popoff, also of Brilliant, was charged with arson following a house fire at Castlegar.

Popoff is a member of the Sons of Freedom and he served a prison sentence, one of several hundred Doukhobors convicted of fire-raids in the Kootenays two years ago.

There were only three of the gang in the barn at the time. The two detectives handcuffed them and marched them out at gunpoint. Suchan was flushed out of a hiding place in the loft a few minutes later by Constable Ernie Sothorn, who said:

"I kept the gun on him and told him if he made a move I'd blow his bloody head off. He didn't make a move."

THE CHILDREN SANG BRAVELY

Airlift Rescues 700 After Typhoon Wreaks Havoc on Wake

HONOLULU, Sept. 17 (AP).—Trees and roofs flew through the air like straws and children sang bravely as they marched to concrete bunkers on typhoon-lashed Wake Island Tuesday.

Mothers comforted their children in underground shelters while water sloshed around their feet. Outside every building except four on the flat little atoll was being smashed to bits by raging winds and waves.

Eye-witnesses told stories like these today as rescue operations got into full swing to bring some 700 inhabitants to Honolulu.

evacuees. Some 600 more will follow as fast as planes can land and load up.

Four injured were flown Tuesday to Kwajalein Island, 700 miles south.

Radio reports continued to trickle in with details of the terrible destruction wrought by heavy seas and wind greater than 160 miles an hour.

Preliminary estimates placed the damage at $10,000,000.

Helen Hawk, a reporter for the weekly magazine Transpacific, said "damage was much worse than bombs could inflict... the hotel, barracks, everything on the ground except concrete radio buildings and the terminal was destroyed.... The 300-foot radio tower was blown right down...."

Maynard Joseph Fontaine, a Coast Guard technician evacuated to Kwajalein, said he saw "roofs and trees flying through the air like straws."

Sgt. Thomas Albert Barker, 24, an air force technician, accompanied the four injured men to Kwajalein. He said there was "no panic, no hysteria among the women and children. Everybody behaved wonderfully," during the typhoon.

The children, he said, sang songs as they marched from their homes to the concrete block-houses.

Barker and Fontaine relayed their reports through amateur radio operators.

ON THE TIMES

By ART STOTT

I've been reading stories about the record number of toddlers enrolled in Archie McKinnon's swimming courses. I've been told about the continuing popularity of George Grant's school swimming program for Grade 5 students. I've been thinking of the youngsters who've been going down to the Crystal Garden to learn some proficiency in the water. And I've been delighted.

Now I've read another story. It makes me ask, "Is all this necessary?"

The story, from London by way of Reuters, says that Britain has developed an unsinkable type of clothing which it intends to sell to a United States firm. Among other things the U.S. outfit will handle swimming trunks made of the stuff. Those trunks, by test, are capable of keeping a 200-pound man afloat.

Why learn to swim? Why not buy the kids or yourself a pair of floating pants and eliminate all the bother of swimming instruction? There's a possibility, of course, that trunks of that material might turn the wearer sunnyside up in the water. He might even look like Jack London's ketch, the "Snark," which, I'm told, rode stern first into the wind when it wasn't sailing. But a collar of the same goods ought to correct the balance.

Clearly swimming is on the way out. In spite of the innovations brought into the game since Leander stroked his way across the Hellespont to visit his girl friend, it has remained a fairly primitive sport. Ford Kono, Johnny Marshall and Pete Salmon probably haven't realized it, but they've been specializing in the obsolete.

Submerged Tenth

You only have to go up to Shawnigan during the summer to realize swimming is passé. Those who are hep put on their swim suits or trunks, slip on a pair of water skis and take off behind a speedboat to enjoy the mechanized aquatic thrills of the present half century. Only poor folks—and a few aging exhibitionists—swim nowadays. They belong to the submerged tenth. That's where sociologists picked up the phrase.

You feel just a little sorry for the 400 odd kids who have applied for swimming instruction at the "Y" and for the thousand or so who will be taking it at the Crystal Garden during the school year. They might just as well be learning to make whip-socks for the buggies that are no more. Time has passed them by and they don't quite realize it.

Of course a few swimmers should be developed each year. There's a place for them in the zoo. In centuries to come, if the species is perpetuated, they'll have considerable anthropological interest.

Scientists will inform generations of the future that swimming once was considered a means of locomotion. From that, the scientists will explain, it was converted to a sport. Maybe the experts on such research will be able to name names, like Captain Webb who swam the Channel breast-stroke, others who invented trudgeon, single overarm, the Australian crawl and the Japanese adaptation of it.

That, the expert of the future will say while his listeners marvel, was during an era when people used to take their own exercise, participate in sport for the fun of it and were just emerging from a Second Dark Age when the superiority of paying to see someone else play hadn't been firmly implanted in the human brain or the human hip-pockets, as the case might be.

Low in the Scale

It was a primitive society, the experts will explain. It couldn't benefit from the example of Rome where the populace had learned better than to take part in athletic events and was content to sit in the stadium and watch.

That society whose members swam just because they wanted to swim and thought it was good for them, even ignored the lessons of the old Chinese emperor, the anthropologist of the future will continue. He had shown the world that a man desiring to play tennis should merely hire someone to do it for him. But civilization, as always, was slow to catch on.

A dull lot, the expert will conclude, just muscle-men reverting to the element from which they emerged—not too bright at all, and so disgustingly healthy.

'ADVENTURES OF RASPUTIN'

Monastery Changed by Gay Monk Into Gay Restaurant

HONG KONG, Sept. 17 (Reuters).—A Buddhist nun and three Chinese widows declared in Supreme Court today that a present-day Rasputin had turned a monastery into a restaurant "where people could eat, drink and be merry."

The four women claimed possession of the monastery.

Their counsel, Brook Bernacchi, told the court:

"If my clients' story is true, this is a story of a monk whose adventures one can only consider as being something similar to a present-day Rasputin."

"The defendant's conduct is such as to make this monastery a place of complete disrepute, seduction and now indeed, fraud."

"There is a deliberate attempt to oust these ladies—one of whom will frankly tell you that she has been his mistress."

Buddhist Monk Wong Chin, the defendant, denied the allegations. Chin said he was the founder of the monastery.

Bernacchi said the story started in 1927, when the nun Wong Yu Kin, met Wong Chin.

He said they lived together for a number of years. She had two children by him. Her money was used to buy a piece of land and build the monastery.

"The story then becomes more involved," Bernacchi said. "Not content with my client, the defendant took onto himself another mistress, and yet again another one of the young nuns who came to stay there."

Bernacchi said Wong Yu Kin and the monk later rebuilt the monastery, offering shares to other women to raise funds.

The three widows each took up shares. In return they were to get a room, to be fed for life and to receive a coffin and due funeral rites on death.

JAIL WAS MADHOUSE

Boyd Gang Replaces Usual Run of Drunks

BY ROBERT W. REFORM

British United Press Staff Correspondent

NORTH YORK POLICE STATION, Sept. 17 (BUP).—I saw the Boyd gang "put to bed" behind bars Tuesday night. The lights were never turned off.

The North York police station is on the east side of Yonge Street, two miles north of the city limits. It is a quiet place, and the fact that it has only three cells shows how peaceful the atmosphere normally is.

Tuesday night, it was a madhouse.

CROWD WATCHES

Outside, a crowd of some 400 onlookers jammed both sides of the street, waiting to see the four desperados. Some shouted derisive comments at the prisoners, comments which they couldn't hear inside their cells. A group of teenagers girls chanted: "We want Boyd!" but they didn't get to see him as detectives ordered the girls to "move along home—we've got Boyd and we're keeping him."

I was allowed to take a quick look through the grill at the three cells in North York police station, cells that usually house drunks and petty thieves rather than accused murderers and bank robbers.

There was a strong steel door, with a grill one foot square, shutting off the cell corridor from the rest of the building. To my left as I looked through was Edwin Alonzo Boyd. He leaned against the bars and was chatting with the three policemen inside guarding the four.

In the centre cell, Steve Suchan and William Jackson were also standing at the barred door. Leonard Jackson was in the end cell, and I couldn't see him too well through the tiny peephole.

BOYD HANDSOME

I've never seen one of any nation's 10 most-wanted criminals before, and I was surprised. Boyd was quite handsome with brown wavy hair streaked with grey. He'd shaved off his moustache, though, and that pointed up his rather narrow face. But there was a healthy red in his cheeks and he seemed quite unconcerned.

The two Jacksons appeared rather nervous. William Russell, who was serving time at Kingston when he escaped, looked rather small, but well-shaven. A wide mouth, wide lips and fleshy nose. His ears stood out from his head too, which was close shaven in front, apparently to change his appearance. Leonard, or tough Lennie, the name he likes, was jumpy with tousled hair, rounded chin, nice-looking eyes and a firm nose. He was the only one who really looked "hunted."

Suchan, who with tough Lennie is accused of murder, was stocky, had a narrow mustache, well kept. He too showed the stubble of a beard but he was not too untidy.

The cell block had yellow painted brick walls and at the end, one window, heavily barred. Facing the cells was a bench, on which the three police guards were sitting. One was Constable Ernie Southern, who personally captured Suchan. The other two were plain clothesmen.

CLOSELY GUARDED

There was a single light shining from the ceiling, a light that was to glare down on the seven

Top U.S. Ace Gets Eighth Mig; Record Monthly Kill

SEOUL, Korea, Sept. 17 (AP).—The leading United States jet ace in Korea today shot down his eighth Russian-made Mig-15 as Allied fighter-bombers hammered Communist targets from the battle front to near the Manchurian border.

The U.S. Fifth Air Force said Maj. Frederick C. Blesse scored his eighth kill in a fight between four Sabre jets and nine Migs near Sakchi in northwest Korea. The victory raised the Allied bag of Migs in September to 47—three more than the previous high of 44 in April.

U.S. jets swarmed over a Communist storage area and placed gold mine south of Kowon near the east coast.

LAST DAYS WERE UNROMANTIC

TORONTO, Sept. 17 (BUP).—The living standards of the Boyd gang fell drastically in the past six months.

Just before they were captured last March they had it pretty good—swanky apartments, lots of food, beer, money, new cars.

When they were recaptured Tuesday night they were in an old barn with nothing but a bit of hay for a bed. They had a couple loaves of bread, some beans, a lemon and some stale water. Between the four of them they had $30. There were no women and no car.

Britain to Favor Firms Exporting To Canada and U.S.

LONDON, Sept. 17 (Reuters).—To foster dollar trade, Britain will deliberately favor firms exporting to Canada and the United States, Overseas Trade Ministry Harry Mackeson said today.

"We shall deliberately employ open favoritism, wherever practicable, toward exporters to Canada and the U.S. in the allocation of raw materials and other production facilities," said Mackeson, who flies to Canada Thursday on an official visit.

"We shall endeavor to provide the best government service to exporters."

Mackeson added that Britain is willing to meet all reasonable requests for dollars legitimately needed for effective and business-like export promotion. He said the government's export credit guarantees department is prepared to give exceptional assistance to firms exporting to Canada and the U.S.

Mackeson will spend several weeks on extensive tour of Canada and will confer with Britain's trade commissioners there on measures to develop trade between the two countries.

JUST ROUTINE CHECK

'We Were Very Lucky' Says Officer Who Shared in Boyd Gang Capture

BY DETECTIVE BERT TROTTER

TORONTO, Sept. 17 (CP).—We didn't know they would be in there, it was just a routine check. We were very lucky.

It all began when Sgt. Richardson and I were on a routine patrol. We noticed this deserted farmhouse set well back from the concession road and decided to check it.

We left our car on the road itself and walked towards the farm. It's about 500 yards of open country and they could have seen us coming if they'd been watching.

Half way to the farm buildings there's a railway crossing and there were some workmen working at that crossing with bulldozers. We stopped and asked if they'd seen anyone around. They said they hadn't.

We decided to check the farm anyway and walked on towards it. We had no extra guns with us, just our regular .32-calibre revolvers. We walked to the barn at the back of the farmhouse. The grass muffled our footsteps. We had to duck under a barbed wire fence. Were in plain view of the barn at all times.

Immigration Up 15 Per Cent In 7 Months

OTTAWA, Sept. 17 (CP).—A total of 114,744 immigrants reached Canada in the first seven months of the year compared with 99,421 in the corresponding months of 1951.

In releasing the figures today, the immigration department said 27,795 came from Britain—an increase of 10,133 over the first seven months of 1951.

A total of 194,000 immigrants was admitted to Canada in 1951. Immigration officials have said the 1952 total is likely to be below last year's.

In the seven-month period, immigration from the United States was up 10 per cent at 4,916 compared with 4,479. The total from northern Europe was 31 per cent higher at 45,431 against 34,807.

The number from other countries dropped to 35,602 from 42,473, a decrease of 14 per cent.

At the main doors to the barn outside and walked them back through a crack in the wood. I glimpsed a man standing. I knew then the gang was inside. I took my gun out and leveled it through the crack in the doors at the standing man. Then we stepped inside.

"The first one that moves gets it," I shouted.

"My name is West," said the man standing up. It turned out to be Boyd.

The two Jacksons were crouched in the straw beside him. All three were armed with Browning automatics. They kept jumping around and we warned them to keep still.

I realize now that Steve Suchan, armed with a P.38 German automatic pistol, was 12 feet above us all the time. We never saw him.

We took our three prisoners

HERE THERE and EVERYWHERE

FOUND—In Warrensville, Alta., two-year-old Ronald Wayne Wilson was found Tuesday 24 hours after he toddled away from his farm home in the area, 300 miles northwest of Edmonton.

He was found by a neighbor, Nick Curela, who lives 1½ miles from the Wilson home. Unaware that an extensive search for the little boy was under way, Mr. Curela took the boy home at suppertime, three hours after he found him.

More than 100 settlers and residents of the Peace River, Berwyn and Warrensville districts joined six members of the Peace River R.C.M.P. detachment in the search for the child, lost in dense bushland.

A trained police dog was flown 500 miles from Calgary to aid in the search. The dog picked up the boy's trail but later lost it. However, the boy had been found at that time.

FAVORS—In New York, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said today he favors amending the Taft-Hartley Labor Act but is not in favor of its repeal.

The Republican presidential candidate said in a speech prepared for delivery before the American Federation of Labor convention that he "will not support any amendments which weaken the rights of working men and women."

DREAMBOAT—In New York, Colonial Airlines announced today it will inaugurate night coach service between New York and Montreal and between Washington and Syracuse, effective Sept. 28.

Colonial said this is the first time in the history of commercial air travel that night coach service is being made available on short haul trips.

Employing the identical equipment and seating arrangements as on Colonial luxury flights, the night coach service will feature low fares with savings of 33 per cent on flights between important cities.

BARGAIN—Alderman Halford Wilson of Vancouver called for a change in the tax sale system in the city which allows one man to make a profit from another's misfortune.

Wilson reported tax sale items were going at bargain prices and suggested such properties be forfeited to the city where they would benefit the community as a whole.

DENIAL—In Washington President Truman said today that it is "a big lie" to say he tolerates Communists in the United States government.

He accused those who say so of employing a tactic used by the Communists themselves — "the big lie technique." There were no names in the speech Truman prepared for the national conference on citizenship, but he asked the voters to defeat the users of "the big lie" regardless of party affiliation.

VETERAN HOSTESS

Revisits Old N.S. Roadhouse

SPRINGFIELD, N.S. (CP)—Roadhouses have come a long way since weary travelers in the early 1800's used to stop for food and lodging at "Half-Way House" on the now forgotten road between Albany Cross in Annapolis County and Liverpool, on the south shore.

The inn was established by Nova Scotia's lieutenant-governor strictly on a non-profit basis. Footsore travellers could pay for their bed and board or not—depending on their pocket books. It was a haven for farmers who used the 40-mile rugged, forest road to drive their cattle to market at Liverpool.

A recent visitor to the now abandoned roadhouse was 93-year-old Mrs. William Acker, a one-time hostess there. For many years she made a home for her daughters and five sons in the isolated spot.

She was remunerated by the provincial government for the expenses incurred in sheltering and feeding travelers.

Jail Sentence Shocks Union

Three-Month Term for I.W.A. Officer
Held Too Severe by City Colleague

A Victoria I.W.A. official today complained the three-month jail sentence imposed Monday on the union's Duncan business agent, Tony Poje, was too harsh a penalty.

B.B.C. Rapped By Commons For Monitoring

LONDON, Sept. 8 (CP)—The British Broadcasting Corporation has come under mild fire by the Commons committee on estimates because of its "eavesdropping" department.

It seems the B.B.C. owns 624 acres of land in exclusive Berkshire for the purpose of monitoring the world's radio in about 30 languages.

A staff of 485 do this semi-secret job of listening in and most of their reports go to the intelligence department of the foreign office. The annual cost of maintaining this operation is £485,000, a member of the estimates committee said.

The question raised by the investigating group was if the land was being used to its economical best.

Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express remarked: "Among the landed gentry of Berkshire there stands today the B.B.C.—with enough acres to qualify it for an exclusive register and enough acres to qualify it for a probe."

Of the 200,000 words recorded daily from this monitoring system, about one-tenth is used for news bulletins and the balance for political information.

UNANIMOUS—The Iranian senate today gave Premier Mohammed Mossadegh a unanimous vote of confidence for his counter-proposals to settle the Anglo-Iranian oil dispute.

Thirty-nine senators voted for it; none were against.

The Majlis (lower house) gave Mossadegh an overwhelming vote of confidence Tuesday when the premier declared he was prepared to go to the International Court to settle compensation if the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company did not agree to let Iran's courts settle the issue.

The Up-Island man was sentenced to imprisonment and ordered to pay a $3,000 fine when he came before Chief Justice W. B. Farris in Supreme Court at Vancouver. He and 14 other I.W.A. members were called before the court to answer to charges of contempt.

The men admitted picketing the Nanaimo wharf during the summer lumber strike, although a court injunction had been issued restraining such action.

The 14 pickets each was fined $300.

Ed. Haw, the I.W.A.'s Victoria business agent, said today he considered the court's sentence on Poje "uncalled for."

"It's true they picketed. But there was no fight and no one was hurt. It was most orderly. The picket line was established after decision by the union's picket committee."

"The fact Poje was the business agent should not warrant such a sentence against him," Mr. Haw said that a stiff fine had been expected but that the jail term came as a complete surprise.

Although the union intends to appeal the sentence, it is likely Poje will have served most of his jail term, if not all of it, before the case goes before Appeal Court.

Poje was to have gone east to Toronto next week to represent the Island Labor Council at the Canadian Congress of Labor's annual convention.

HONORED POST—The office of Speaker of the British Commons is known to have existed since at least 1376.

Canadian Warship Magnificent Earns a 'Well Done' in Exercise

BY DICK BROME

ABOARD H.M.C.S. MAGNIFICENT, off Scotland, Sept. 17 (BUP).—Hard-working pilots and the crew of this Canadian carrier drew a "Well Done" signal from their task force commander at the end of their first day's warlike activities in exercise "Mainbrace."

The Magnificent's aircraft flew 20 sorties, the last plane returning to the carrier's decks after dark with its pilot lighting his controls with a flashlight clenched in his teeth.

The Maggie steamed northward all day along the Scottish coast as part of Task Force 171 under the command of Rear Admiral W. G. A. Robson, R.N. Their assignment was to protect a convoy bound for Bergen, Norway.

Plane crews, mechanics and erise umpires. Robson flashed a message of congratulation to Capt. K. L. Dyer, commanding officer of the Magnificent, when the last Aven-er aircraft had dropped onto the deck from a four-hour dusk patrol.

The last plane to come in made a dramatic landing. Lt. Fred G.

Townsend of Essex, Ont., was at the controls when his cockpit instrument lights failed.

Townsend grasped a flashlight, clenched it in his teeth, and so lighted vital dials for his approach and landing.

Shortly after dark, the task force was sailing under near blackout conditions. A series of brilliant flares were fired from somewhere near the vessels, but no "attack" was reported.

The Two Harvests

TWO GIGANTIC HARVESTS ARE now under way in Canada. In British Columbia the loggers are back in the woods cutting the vegetable growth of centuries. On the prairies perhaps the largest wheat crop in our history is coming in.

This is real wealth, the stuff that man needs to feed and house himself. But it cannot all be used in Canada. Most of it must be sold abroad, exchanged for other things that Canada needs and can thus pay for.

These two great industries, lumbering in British Columbia, grain farming on the broad central plains, illustrate vividly the nation's dependence on foreign trade, which has made it the second most prosperous nation in history.

The question facing the western lumberman and the prairie farmer at this harvest season is how, where and at what price the two crops can be sold.

In British Columbia the lumber industry fortunately has secured an extension until October 31 of its large British order, placed some years ago by the former Labor government. In return for this extension the present British government has cut the price by $10 a thousand, a large amount in total.

This is was perfectly entitled to do. The former government bought timber itself, in huge bulk lots, at prices fixed for the term of the contract, and in the case of lumber it paid British Columbia an exceedingly high price. The present government will leave the purchase of timber to private importers who must obtain a profitable price or go broke.

Thus B.C. timber must face new and sharp competition from the timber-producing countries of Europe since Britain will wisely buy where it can buy at the lowest price. In its desperate economic circumstances Britain must get the best possible bargain and we cannot complain if it refuses to pay us more than it could pay some other producer.

The B.C. timber industry does not know how much lumber Britain will buy here during the next few years or at what price. Probably the British government does not know either. Britain apparently will buy in varying amounts and prices from time to time as the market changes, depending on the competitive price offered here and elsewhere. We can be sure, however, that the price will be lower from now on than it has been and this price our industry must meet if it is to secure the business.

That fact lay behind the recent timber strike. The industry knew that it faced lower prices and therefore could not afford any substantial increase in costs. The timber union apparently realized that also, on second thoughts, and accepted a fractional wage increase which will not compensate it for some years to come for the working time lost in the strike. The union showed good sense in recognizing economic facts entirely outside the control of the timber industry or of the Canadian government.

These same facts face the wheat industry, and indeed, all exporting industries. They must sell at the price level of the world market or not sell at all.

It is true, of course, that the government can subsidize the exporting industries, as it has frequently subsidized some branches of agriculture, like wheat and beef, but no one pays that subsidy except the Canadian people, through taxes. However, the figures may be juggled, however profits or losses may be redistributed through taxes, the nation cannot escape the market and must fix its costs of production accordingly. That is not a matter of theory but of mathematics.

The paramount interest of Canada, therefore, as illustrated in the case of timber and wheat, is to make sure that the world market is kept wide and free enough to absorb those exports on which Canadian industry mainly lives.

Every move to expand the trade of the world benefits us directly or indirectly. Every restriction in the flow of trade damages us, whether we realize the damage immediately or not.

In a sane world economy, with trade moving freely between the nations which require one another's goods, we can sell all the lumber, wheat and other things we can produce. If the world is to plunge back into the storm cellar of high tariffs a rich Canada could become poor, despite its natural wealth, for we can only use a large part of our product when it is converted into foreign imported goods that we need.

More Between The Lines

ANNOUNCEMENT OF THE RESULTS of negotiations that have been held between top-level Chinese and Russian officials satisfies in part the curiosity of the western world as to what has been going on in Moscow for the past month. But only in part. The published version of the talks is as notable for what it leaves out as for what it reveals.

Two main points emerge from the Tass news item. The Soviets will retain troops in Port Arthur—China's request according to Tass—until a peace treaty with Japan is signed. China will be given back the Changchun railway, connecting central Siberia with Vladivostok, by the end of this year.

But details of "important political and economic questions" that were discussed are not yet revealed. And there is no mention of the port of Dairen, 25 miles east of Port Arthur. A 1950 treaty provided that the Chinese would continue its administration until a Japanese peace treaty is established.

Supposition has been that China's representatives went to Moscow hoping for more aid in the Korean war. There were also a few ticklish points to be settled.

Whose Job Is Inviolable?

A NEAT POINT IN ETHICS IS raised by Mr. Peter Bowe, district superintendent for Commonwealth Construction company, in discussions of the wildcat strike which stopped work on the $1,700,000 barrack block at H.M.C.S. Naden.

Mr. Bowe said that certain carpenters, during the recent strike, took jobs on Saanich sewer projects doing work which is usually considered laborer's. His statement was made in answer to the protest reported to have caused the Monday walkout at Naden when carpenters objected to employment of two general laborers who worked on the Naden job while the carpenters' strike was in progress.

Mr. Bowe's report is not an isolated case. Other instances have been cited in which union members took work in other fields when their own trades were strikebound.

Admittedly there are differences between strikers invading a non-protected occupation to earn enough money to feed and house their families and other men continuing to work on a project where union men have struck. But, basically, both jobs represent men taking to those who do them. Over and above the considerations of union practice and procedure, the carpenters appear to have a nice question in fundamental justice before them.

Not Just a Token Donation

IN ANOTHER TWO WEEKS RED Feather agencies in this community will be launched on their combined campaign for funds to carry on services during the next 12 months.

Their appeal will draw a generous response in many quarters. Its success, however, will be influenced largely by the amount of thought citizens give to the programs for which they donate money and to their understanding of the principles involved.

To a substantial degree the funds contributed by the people of Greater Victoria will replace the old-time assistance neighbor used to give neighbor in those days when Victoria was smaller and when the personal plight of an individual or family was known directly to his fellow townspeople. The spirit of that help survives in the sincere wish of contributors to aid those who are less fortunate. Because the city has grown and because living has become more complex, the close personal bonds have been stretched. Agencies are required to do the work the philanthropic individual or the family once did.

But the principle runs deeper than that. In spite of the advances of social legislation, government departments, subject to standardization as they are, cannot go beyond certain limits in considering the special needs of particular cases. Nor can they call on the vast body of volunteer help available to the agencies in their administration and work.

A little thought on the part of those who find living in this community a good life will convince them that part of its value stems from the excellence of organizations which help those in need and are able to do so because they enjoy public support. It cannot be as good a life if those who require help and opportunity are denied it because others in more comfortable circumstances give too little.

The appeal made to the community is honest and genuine. It is an appeal that should not be brushed off with a token donation. It is one which calls for thought on the work of the different agencies and the good they do not only to those who receive immediate benefits but to the townspeople whose community is better for their services.

Chips

By DAVID BROCK

THE other day I mentioned Andre Simon's new Concise Encyclopaedia of Gastronomy, published by Collins. I strongly advise you to buy a copy, if you believe in eating. It should be in Canadian shops any day now, at about $9.00. That's quite an advance on the English price of 42 shillings (which would be about $5.80), but as you know, the Canadian book trade believes in quite a mark-up on English books. The other day in Vancouver I paid $4.00 for a book I could have had posted to me from England for $2.16. So an increase of 50 per cent or so on the cookery book isn't too bad, comparatively. And in any event, it is worth a lot more than $9.00 to anyone who likes eating food or even reading about it. It is an ideal book to dip into at random. And ideal for a small wedding-present that looks big. Your friend the bride would use it more than most presents, and bless you often.

I've read only about half of its 800 pages (over 1,500 columns) so far. But I've learnt an awful lot, and have made myself very hungry, and have satisfied that hunger with many new recipes. And I've got much amusement too. Especially from gently but firmly expressed opinions on foods and drinks with small appeal to Mr. Simon. For example, he says that doughnuts (which are an English food as well as American) are "more satisfying than satisfactory."

He is very restrained on ginger ale: "It is made with a few drops of essence of ginger, of capsicum extract, and a few drops of coloring matter; also some sugar or glucose put into a bottle which is then filled up with carbonated water. Occasionally a little mucilaginous matter variously known technically as froth, heading, etc., is added to give the ginger ale a better 'head' and the drinker thereof a greater thrill."

ON PEANUT butter: "Sandwiches of buttered brown bread spread with peanut butter mixed with clear honey are very good for children, and many grown-ups who are not cured with a sensitive palate also like them."

The subject of hot grapefruit crops up twice at least. He says he would as soon eat hot caviar. Carrot puddings, he says, are all failures and are not to be encouraged. The carrot simply is not a fruit, and that is that. By the way, all the vitamins and salts in a carrot are in the outer skin or just inside it. Therefore carrots should not be peeled or even grated except when needed in salads. Just scrub with a brush and cook with the skin on. If they are old, slip the skin off after cooking them, and use it in soup, stew, or sauce.

THE same awkward and little-known fact is true of onions also, though they have to be peeled for anything except boiling or baking. However, after boiling or baking an onion in its skin, most of the goodness has gone right through the onion and out of the skin, so you are able to throw the skin away without any nonsense about saving it for soup, etc. And hooray for that.

THE book is particularly strong in the bakery department. By the way, it is astonishing how many of the best cakes, biscuits, buns, pancakes, etc., are Scottish. Not that the book isn't strong in other departments, and not that it hasn't scoured the whole world for recipes and information. It draws on about 300 other cook books, only about a dozen of which I already knew. Simon has the biggest and best cookery library in the world. . . . in England, not France.

SPEAKING of pancakes, I was interested to read that the genuine Crepes Suzette are not set on fire at all, and indeed have no liqueurs in their sauce at all. The sauce is butter, sugar, and orange juice, nothing else. . . . sizzling hot, but incapable of being ignited. They were invented by one Joseph, later chef of the Savoy in London. There was a play running in Paris in 1897 and the maid had to carry on some pancakes each night. They came from the restaurant next door, where Joseph was chef. He invented a new pancake in honor of this nightly task and named it after the maid, Suzette. There are many sorts of pancake which are ignited all right, and they are mostly much older than 1897. But they are not Crepes Suzette.

I WAS flabbergasted to read that Worcestershire sauce is based on garlic. The garlic is discreetly masked with all sorts of things, including "very mature" anchovies. But garlic is the main thing. all the same. I wonder how many dieters are "unable" to stand garlic and yet make a bee-line for the old Worcestershire sauce?

I was a good deal more than flabbergasted by the completeness of the chapter on meat. Since people do eat cats, dogs, rats, etc., in various parts of the world, the chapter is mentioned with turkey and beef, and the more usual things. If the following quotation offends you, don't blame me, fellows. Or even Simon. Blame Labouchere, whom he is quoting.

LABOUCHERE ate cats and kittens during the siege of Paris in 1870, and wrote later: "A cat tastes something between a squirrel and a rabbit with a flavor of its own. It is delicious. Don't drown your kittens, eat 'em." Well, well, I believe National Cat Week (U.S.A.) rolls round again in November. Perhaps it would be better to celebrate it with one of the rat recipes on p. 485, rather than with kitten in the manner of Labouchere. If you had any rat pie left (and I bet you would) you could give it to the cat.

SCIENTIFIC?

Mr. C. M. Cadwallader in a recent letter claims that the Bible governs many subjects, including that of science. Of course, it is the Christian's creed for the salvation of mankind, and I agree that its commandments, statutes and judgments constitute the perfect manual for the politicians, but by what method of deduction can he prove that it is scientific or that it contains the teaching of science?

UNITED NATIONS

With all due respect to Mrs. Dorothy Spurr, and her fine defense of the U.N.O., the Korean war has already shown that we can never achieve unity in the face of the Russian veto.

May I submit that as a Christian nation we must conform at all times to the teachings of Jesus Christ, who said: "No man cometh to the Father but by Me," also, "I, if I be lifted up will draw all men unto Me"; and we are definitely warned in the Bible, "Be ye not unequally yoked together with unbelievers . . . (2 Cor. vii. 14). Only under the leadership of Jesus Christ can all men and nations unite."

WILL DO

I spent a most delightful vacation in Victoria in the latter part of August. While there I read an editorial in your newspaper on August 20, I believe, concerning inflation of money in the United States.

I considered it a very splendid analysis of our problem and so different from many of the articles we read in our own papers which seem to toss the question of inflation about as a football between political parties rather than discussing the problem as a matter of world economics.

I would be grateful to you if you would send me a copy of your Times which contains this editorial.

ONE OF THEM

Some weeks ago, under the above title, you drew exception to certain editorial remarks made by Alistair Cooke for The Manchester Guardian. At that time you considered these remarks having to do with the Republican convention were in bad taste, because Cooke, as an Englishman, should have treated the subject with less levity. You considered that Cooke's seemingly contemptuous accounts would only make for "bad blood" between the two great English-speaking countries.

Might I suggest, sir, that you read the article on Alistair Cooke in the Aug. 25 edition of Life, where you will learn that Cooke is no longer an Englishman but is now an American; that the Americans, far from being hyper-sensitive, delight in his pungent wit.

LIBERAL TRAIN

It is a curious state of affairs that in the public consciousness the election still looms. This extraordinary state of mind stems, I believe, from the fact that although the electorate have spoken and worked their will in a most successful protest vote, there now prevails that core of unsatisfied need which has its root in the steadfast and true adherence to party.

The awareness that there was no other way out has been appeased, and the inner man having rid himself of shackles, is looking for the straight and known highway along which his preference led him to such undeniable benefits which were the result of true Liberal legislation.

This, then, is the crucial time for us all to stand forth with undiminished pride and reaffirm our faith in Liberalism. The subtle intricacies of political maneuvering do not change the policy of the party—we stood, and still stand, for that policy—let us be justly proud of it.

British Columbians have with intent and deliberation, protested rather than voted. The train may have run off the tracks, but the tracks are still there!

It is the duty of every true Liberal to realign the train, take cognizance of the crew and head once more down the main line which enters the heart of Canada—let us right the thing!

Those few who would sink away were defective links. Canada's history past and present has no room for the deserter. We are stronger now than we knew.

Once Again

Ottawa Citizen

Prime Minister St. Laurent is home-bound from his Western tour. It seems to have been almost as strenuous as the one he took during the parliamentary Easter recess of 1949. If it was anywhere close to being as successful, it will have been a triumph indeed, for undoubtedly it was the West's reception of Mr. St. Laurent on the 1949 trip to the Pacific and back that cemented plans for an immediate general election.

At Vancouver, last week, the Prime Minister told a questioner that he hopes his health will allow him to lead his party into the next general election. So the prospects are that Canadians from coast to coast will see once again in action one of the most vital personalities and effective campaigners of our times.

Sept. 17, 1932—The B.C. government's new economy plans which will reduce unemployment relief allowances, for families of two, to $15 a month, provoked strong criticism at the City Hall today. It means Victoria's relief allowances will be cut by 40 per cent.

Slam Bang at the Whistle Stops

By STEWART ALSOP
From Washington

THE forgotten man of this campaign, for the moment, is the occupant of the White House. But Harry S. Truman does not intend to remain a forgotten man very much longer. For the famous Presidential dander is now up. Truman will keep his promise to Gov. Stevenson to stay out of the limelight throughout this month. But according to those close to him, he can hardly wait to mount the hustings when this month ends.

There are two reasons for this Presidential eagerness for the whistle stops. In the first place, the kind of campaign Gen. Eisenhower has been waging, especially in the last few days, has thoroughly enraged the President. As Truman has said many times, he has always liked and admired Eisenhower; and Eisenhower's current "fighting" campaign, which has so delighted many Republicans, has seemed to Truman ingratiate "sharper than a serpent's tooth."

Perhaps Truman expected Eisenhower to wage a lofty, non-partisan "national unity" campaign. Instead, Eisenhower has been slamming the Truman administration as hard as Truman himself used to slam the "do-nothing 80th Congress."

What particularly infuriates Truman is Eisenhower's criticism of the Administration's handling of foreign policy; and above all Eisenhower's charge that Administration "bungling" led to the Korean war. And now Truman is thirsting for oratorical revenge.

In the second place, it is no secret that certain aspects of Gov. Stevenson's campaign have not pleased the President. He was so angered by Stevenson's "mess in Washington" gaff that Stevenson himself, after much burning of the wires between Washington and Springfield, had to telephone the President in order to mollify him.

Since then, Stevenson's defense of the Administration record seems to Truman, and with some reason, distinctly pallid. While Gen. Eisenhower has been hammering away at "corruption," "the mess in Washington," and "Trumanism," Stevenson has been calmly remarking that the Administration has made mistakes and that "there will probably be more." This is reportedly Truman's notion of a spirited defense of the Administration, and he is eager to go to his own defense.

Moreover, despite moments of irritation with Stevenson, Truman is almost as eager to see Stevenson elected as though he himself were running. And he has certain doubts, shared by other astute political observers, that Stevenson's speeches, for all their brilliance, are really going over with the voters.

He believes that he himself, lambasting the Republicans in his famous "give-'em hell" manner, can supply the missing ingredient which will put Stevenson over in November. And thus, in Truman's eyes, vindicate Harry S. Truman for all time.

At first, Stevenson was by no means pleased by Truman's campaign plans. In August, suggestions were conveyed from Springfield to Washington that there would be no objection at all from Stevenson if Truman decided to cancel the speech he had scheduled for Milwaukee on Labor Day.

But Stevenson and those around him were impressed by the reaction to the Milwaukee speech, and especially by the enthusiastic turnout which greeted the President in his subsequent whistle-stop appearances in West Virginia and elsewhere.

Truman's whistle-stop plans for October have now reportedly been welcomed and approved in the Stevenson camp. And it may indeed be that the Truman-Stevenson combination will prove distinctly formidable, with Stevenson "educating and elevating" the voters, while Truman "gives-'em hell." It is a curious political formula—the candidate acting like a President, while the President acts like a candidate—but it may very well work.

Hon. Paul Martin, minister of health, has warned Canadians in an address to the Young Liberal summer school, that there is a definite bottom to the social security barrel.

This was a warning which is needed and comes probably with better grace from Mr. Martin than anyone else, as he is the minister who is largely responsible for the administration of much of our social security.

Ups and Downs

By BRIAN TOBIN

"PATIENCE," said the Elevator Man, "is supposed to be a virtue. It is also what you have when you don't know what to do next. It is also what you play when there aren't two of you at the card table. It is also what you are credited with when you do a tedious job which you happen to like. So it is doubtful just why it should be a virtue in every case. It's often the exertions of the impatient person that make it possible for the patient person to be happy. Maybe it's safer to be impatient."

You ever hear of the impatient dying, even when the operation's a complete success. Lower man! "Sometimes," said the Elevator Man, "it takes a long time, but patience won't last forever. Take that fella in Detroit the other day, for instance. He was in court to get a divorce. It seems he'd lived with his wife only for six months back in 1930, then she left him. 'Why have you come to court after all these years?' asked the judge. 'I don't think she's coming back,' the fella said. It was a fair enough supposition. Going down! 'He,' said the Elevator Man, 'was in much the same position as that woman who appealed to the marriage counsellor on a radio program. 'Six months ago,' she said, 'I sent my husband out for a loaf of bread and I haven't seen him since. What do you advise me to do?' 'Don't wait a minute longer,' says the counsellor. 'Send out immediately for another loaf of bread.'"

Where General Synod Met

A stone from St. Paul's Cathedral, London, Eng., now is in St. Paul's Cathedral, London, Ont. (above), where it is hoped it will forever have a place. It was brought from England to the see city of the Diocese of Huron by the Very Rev. W. R. Matthews, D.D., Dean of old St. Paul's, who dedicated it at an impressive service while the General Synod of the Anglican Church in Canada was in triennial session last week. The ceremony was attended by the entire episcopate and the clerical and lay delegates of the Canadian church. The stone had formed part of the Sir Christopher Wren cathedral from its erection till the Second World War, when the edifice was damaged in the German blitz. It is intended as a perpetual reminder to succeeding generations that Christianity, as embodied in the fabric of that edifice, triumphed over all attempts to destroy it. Like the Ontario St. Paul's, which is more than three-quarters of a century old, Victoria's Christ Church Cathedral is the repository of several carved stones, gifts from ancient cathedrals in England. They are in a niche near the altar of the Lady Chapel.

Diabetes Held On Increase In Canada

QUEBEC (CP)—Diabetes is increasing in Canada and, because it is hereditary, two persons afflicted by the disease should not marry, Dr. C. N. Hugh Long, professor of physiology at Yale University, said here recently.

"People with diabetes don't die," he said. "They take insulin—a Canadian discovery—which neutralizes, roughly, their condition, live to a ripe old age and pass on their diabetes, in all probability, to their children. I wouldn't recommend two diabetics to marry for that reason."

In a shipboard interview on his arrival here from the international diabetes federation conference in Amsterdam, Dr. Long said the disease is definitely linked with a high standard of living. In Canada and the United States, 2 per cent of the population are bound to become diabetics.

"Countries with a low standard of living have a much lower incidence. Japan, instead of having one person in 50 with diabetes, has only one in 5,000." While a cure is not just around the corner, "we are getting there," he added.

Hoopsters Plan Basketball Week

BY DENNY BOYD

Dr. Bob Horne filled the biggest cavity in his dentist career Tuesday night when he agreed to take over the presidency of the Victoria and District Basketball Association.

INTERCITY HOOP MEET POSTPONED

Pat Horgan, manager of Victoria's senior A men's basketball team, will make a trip to Vancouver later this month to seek a spot for Victoria in the inter-city hoop this season.

He was prepared to make these overtures to a meeting of Vancouver officials Tuesday night but it was cancelled at the last minute. Horgan would like to have a meeting with the officials just prior to the B.C. Amateur Basketball Association meeting Sept. 27 in the mainland city to get a firm answer on this matter. Port Alberni is also seeking a spot in the inter-city league. Horgan believes Victoria's chances of re-entering the league this year are good.

Kerries Carved By Excelsiors In Score Orgy

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. Sept. 17 (CP).—To put it mildly, Brampton Excelsiors are heavy favorites to take the Canadian junior lacrosse championship in three straight games.

Excelsiors swamped Vancouver Kerries 27-9 Tuesday night in the first game of a best-of-five series for the Minto Cup. With all but two Brampton players hitting the scoresheet at least once.

The second game, and Kerries are probably cringing at the thought, is set for Thursday night, while the third contest will be played Saturday night.

The huskier, faster and wiser Easterners ploughed to a 12-2 first-quarter lead and by half-time were ahead 16-3. At the three-quarter mark the score was 23-6 and Excelsiors grabbed four of the seven final-quarter goals.

From the latter part of the quarter until a Vancouver goal at 9:35 of the second, Brampton fired in 12 goals without a return.

Top scorer was forward Jack Blonda with six goals. Forward John Hilson got four and George Laidlaw and Jack Sibbald three apiece.

Rover Fred Aspin starred for Kerries with four goals, drawing the cheers of a partisan crowd of approximately 900. Frank Pavan got two for Kerries and Jim Oughton, Dave Lincke and Bob Parry one each.

CARPET BOWLING

All carpet bowlers of Britannia Branch, No. 7, Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., are requested to attend a meeting to be held Friday at 8 in the auditorium, Blanshard Street.

Paddle Pushers Plan Most Active Season

Those fellas and gals who swat the celluloid balls around a table will start the ball rolling on the 1952-53 season on Monday, September 29.

Competitions will be at the Victoria Table Tennis Association clubrooms at Club Sirocco.

That is the night when the first division players go into action, all other leagues commencing on their respective nights the same week as follows: Second division, Tuesday; juniors, Wednesday; and a new type of league featuring progressive individual play Thursday, Sunday afternoon will be restricted to practice play.

Second division and the Individual League will provide an opportunity for the less experienced players to improve their game before trying for a position in the tougher league, the first division.

CLUBROOMS OPEN

Clubrooms are now open for play each Monday through to Thursday and Sunday afternoons. All persons interested in playing are invited to join the association. For information telephone G9782.

Art Ngai, western Canada open singles champ, at the re-organization meeting of the association Monday night, gave a short talk on his recent trip to the Canadian National Table Tennis Tournament held in Toronto Sept. 4-5-6. It was held in conjunction with the Canadian National Exposition.

OUTLINES TRIP

Accompanying him were Ed Ngai, his brother, twice western Canada open singles champion, and Ed Fulcher of Vancouver.

'The Show Is Yours, Bob'

The new dean of basketball in Victoria is dentist Bob Horne (left). Horne was elected president of the Victoria and District Basketball Association at a special open rally Tuesday night at Williams Hall. Besides passing on a few hard-earned tips, retiring commissioner Pat

Horgan also passed the constitution, records, minutes and all the paper work that will take up Horne's winter nights. While Horne is attempting to put basketball back on the city sports map, Horgan will be working to get his senior A team into the Intercity League.

HOPES DWINDLE, SEARCH FOR PORTELANCE FAILS

POWELL RIVER, B.C. Sept. 17 (BUP).—Hopes for the safety of Olympic swimmer Leo Portelance, 23, Ocean Falls, B.C., dwindled today after volunteer searchers patrolling a 10-mile stretch of turbulent water where the swimmer disappeared Sunday reported no trace of the man.

Portelance was staying at a summer home in the area and followed his host's boat to go rowing by himself Sunday. Two men spotted the boat overturned in Douglas Bay after hearing cries for help. They raced to the scene in a motorboat, but the rowboat had sunk.

Portelance competed for Canada in the 1950 British Empire Games in New Zealand, and was a member of the 1952 Canadian Olympic squad.

James McGrath is the president of the Booster Club of the Victoria United in the local soccer world.

the best soccer playing Victoria has seen for many years. Reports were that there is "good feeling" between the United and the Victoria and District Football League and that full cooperation can be expected between the two bodies.

Bums Clean Up on Leo's Big Gamble

Frosh Leftie Blows Up; Dodgers Increase Lead

"I just gambled and lost, that's all."

The quotes are those of manager Leo Durocher, who Tuesday astounded the experts, fans, opposition and his own players by pinning the New York Giants' pennant hopes on the left arm of a pitching neophyte who had never hurled an inning of big-league ball.

The youngster is 25-year-old Jack Harshman, former first base flop, who turned to minor league pitching last spring and was brought up to the Giants Monday after a 7.7 record, with Minneapolis of the American Association. Harshman formerly played with the Victoria Athletics as a first baseman.

Harshman walked to the mound under his own power but collapsed quickly and the Chicago Cubs, behind Warren Hacker, breezed to a 9-0 victory. The defeat was a bitter one since it was followed by Brooklyn's 4-2 triumph over Pittsburgh that boosted the Dodgers' National League lead over the Giants to four games with only 10 to go.

Harshman pitched the way Hacker pitched, it didn't matter whom he sent to the mound. But the gritty skipper simply said:

"I had to go with Harshman. Who else did I have? The others are all overworked."

The Giant players, who raised their eyebrows questioning the plans, didn't help their cause much, eking out a meagre three widely scattered hits off the Cub knuckleballer.

Heartened by the Giant's loss, the Brooks stepped out in the evening and knocked off the Pirates with the help of home runs by Gil Hodges and Duke Snider. Gil hammered his 32nd off loser Murry Dickson after Andy Pafo had doubled in the second inning and Snider hit his 20th in the fourth.

It took a sterling relief job by rookie Jim Hughes and another by Joe Black to preserve the Brook's lead. Hughes, recently brought up from Montreal, relieved starter Billy Loos with the bases loaded and nobody out in the fourth and retired the Pirates without permitting a run.

The Bucs finally scored on the 28-year-old right-hander in the ninth and had two out and the Bright out and keystone passer Keith Spait and where would the cowboys be? This isn't written in detriment to the balance of the team. But on today's offensive plays a team is usually bound around one or two key players. When they are missing the team is like a wheel after the hub has been withdrawn.

Saskatchewan Roughriders, last season's western champions, now in the league cellar, owe their present unhappy position more to injuries to star imports such as coach Glen Dobbs, than to any other single reason.

As we started out to say, "breaks" in the form of fumbles and injuries this year may spell the difference between champ and chump.

Smythe Blasts Recall Rules

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., Sept. 17 (CP).—Conn Smythe, managing director of the Toronto Maple Leafs, said Monday night president Clarence Campbell of the National Hockey League had exceeded his authority in agreeing to certain terms with the American Hockey League.

Smythe was commenting on the results of a two-day meeting of the A.H.L. in Buffalo, N.Y. The minor league reaffirmed its intention of forbidding N.H.L. teams to recall players on option to A.H.L. clubs during the season. However, it granted a concession to the N.H.L. that the rule would not apply in cases of where the parent team weakened with injuries or illness.

"There can be no agreement between the N.H.L. and the A.H.L. as given out in a statement from Buffalo, because Campbell was instructed by the league what to do and he didn't do it," Smythe said.

BITTER FOE

Smythe, bitter foe of the A.H.L.'s new rule, said Campbell was to make certain offers to the Buffalo meeting in return for an agreement whereby an N.H.L. club could recall up to four players over the season.

The A.H.L. accepted the offer, but wouldn't allow the "four recall" proposal.

The N.H.L. in return for the A.H.L. waiving the no-recall rule, offered to supply the A.H.L. with referees and service of the referee-in-chief without charges, except for expenses, provide use of the N.H.L.'s central registry for players and thus take charge of bookkeeping, a neutral drafting of players by both N.H.L. and A.H.L. teams for a price of $10,000, and a reduction of the reserve list from 44 to 28 players.

WOULD TAKE STEPS

Smythe said previously that if the no-recall rule wasn't revoked he would be forced to send his best players elsewhere but Pittsburgh, where they would be at his immediate call.

Smythe said the minor league's action on the rule "looks to me as if the A.H.L. is committing suicide."

Royals Tangle With Leafs in Crucial Tilt

MONTREAL, Sept. 17 (BUP).—Little Vic Lombardi was scheduled to oppose Gil Mills or Johnny Podres on the mound tonight when the dark-horse Toronto Maple Leafs opposed the Montreal Royals in the seventh and deciding game of their first-round series in the International League's Shaugnessy playoffs.

The Leafs, who finished fourth in the regular season pennant race, tied the series at three victories each when Johnny Hetki pitched a five-hitter to give a 3-0 triumph Tuesday night. Toronto's winner will meet Rochester Red Wings in the championship series.

Lombardi, a 150-pound left-hander with a varied assortment of slow curves, won 10 games and lost eight for Toronto during the season. Mills had an 11-6 record and Podres a 5-4 mark for Montreal.

Hetki, a veteran right-hander, struck out nine batters and limited the Royals to one hit for the first six innings. The Leafs finally caught up to Mal Maloney in the sixth inning when they scored all their runs.

Graziano Favored to Stop Davey's Streak

CHICAGO, Sept. 17 (BUP).—A boxer meets a slugger tonight in one of the ring's stand-out bouts, and hard-punching Rocky Graziano is favored to ruin the big payday sought by undefeated welterweight Chuck Davey.

The two scrappers, with Graziano expected to hold a weight advantage of perhaps 10 pounds, weigh in at 1 today for their 10-round television battle in the Chicago Stadium.

Graziano, former middleweight champion who boasts 51 knockouts in 82 fights and who has been knocked out himself only three times, is a strong favorite to down his lighter opponent, holder of two degrees from Michigan State College and as adept at teaching school as at fighting.

Early odds on the brawl listed Graziano as a three-to-one choice, but some Davey backers have forced the price down to two to one generally today.

Both battlers, as usual, are confident of victory. Graziano anticipates that he might suffer some pummeling in the early rounds, but likewise believed that sooner or later he would connect with one of his roundhouse rights to start Davey on the road toward his first ring defeat.

Davey, on the other, believes that speed and boxing will win for him. His training program — three weeks of intensive workouts at an outdoor training camp — is aimed at putting him in condition for 10 top-speed rounds, giving Graziano no chance to find a standstill target.

THREE LAMB CHOPS FOR BREAKFAST YET

That Marciano—He's Always Eating

By GAYLE TALBOT

GROSSINGER, N.Y., Sept. 17 (AP).—Charlie Goldman, the gnome-like little man who trains Rocky Marciano, was holding forth on his favorite topic while the heavyweight challenger took a sound afternoon snooze in the room above. "He not only was crude when I first saw him in 1948," Goldman said, "but he was about the rawest fighter I ever laid my eyes on. He was old to be starting out on a professional career, too—nearly 24 he was at that time.

"Most fighters that ever amounted to anything started in boxing when they were 14 or 15, and by the time they were 19 or 20 they were ready to win a title. The first time I looked at Rocky in the gym, one of the scouts hanging around laughed and told me 'You'll never make a fighter out of that guy.'"

"But I saw that Rocky could punch and that he had a fine body for taking punches. He was an awful, slow puncher, though, and about all he had was a big, looping right. He's much faster now and he punches a lot shorter, but he still throws the looper now and then and it's all right with me. I told him as long as he gets results, that's all I want.

"Well, what Rocky lacked in experience he made up in being co-operative. Rocky must be something like this golfer, Ben Hogan. I read how Hogan will shoot a fine score and then go out and practice for a couple of hours. Rocky is exactly that way. If I should get him on the phone the morning after he wins the championship from Joe Walcott and tell him something's on the fire and I want him to start in training again, he would just say 'Okay, Charlie,' and he would be there.

"It's the honest truth. He even sneaked off and trained some on his honeymoon. Some times he sneaks off on me. After a real hard workout he'll finish eating and tell me he thinks he'll go out for a little walk. I find out later he did eight or 10 miles.

"The only reason Rocky can eat the way he does is because he's able to work it right off. I never saw the fighter who could eat with him. Take this morning at breakfast. Tall Charlie and he would be there, three poached eggs with plenty of toast and three thick lamb chops. Oh, yes, then a big bowl of breakfast food and fruit. He does better than that, of course, at his big meal. He's always eatin' something."

EARL SHEELY DIES

By the Associated Press

The Portland Beavers crossed over the Hollywood Stars in their bid for the Pacific Coast League pennant Tuesday night.

But the odds are very, very much in favor of the Stars capturing the bunting. They can do it by winning only one of their final seven games. They already have assured themselves at least a tie for first place.

The tie would be with second-place Oakland—and only provided the Oaks won their final six games and the Stars lost their last seven.

Ironically, the winner of Portland's 10-3 triumph over Hollywood was Royce Lint, who was traded by the Stars to the Beavers. It was Lint's 10th straight win and his 12th victory this season. He gave up 11 hits to 16 off Joe Muir and Pinky Woods.

The Beavers had piled up a five-run lead at the end of the fifth and added five more in the sixth on four singles, a double and Granville Gladstone's triple.

Oakland won the first game of a twin bill from San Diego 3-0. Loss of the nightcap 4-1 was hard to take. It wiped out the last mathematical chance the Aorns had of passing the Stars.

Tragedy struck the Seattle club in the death of its general manager, Earl Sheely. Sheely, who had been ill of a heart ailment, attended the early innings of the Rainiers' game with San Francisco but left early.

Seattle shaded the visitors 4-3, scoring the winning run in the fourth frame, when Steve Nagy, a former Seal, singled in Leo Thomas.

Sacramento and Los Angeles traded triumphs, the Solons winning the first one 4-1 and dropping the second game 6-3. The Angel win snapped a five-game losing streak.

'Class or Kind' Tariff Hearing

Millions of Dollars Duty at Stake
In Ottawa Session Opening Tomorrow

OTTAWA, Sept. 17 (CP).—With rates of duty on millions of dollars worth of imported goods hanging in the balance, the tariff board will begin hearings Thursday on the controversial "class-or-kind" case, an issue involving revenue department appraisal policy.

H. B. McKinnon, board chairman for 12 years, says he considers the case "one of the most important" ever to come before his attention. Because of "possible wide repercussions," it will be split into two parts, with further hearings to be held in a month or two before final judgment is given.

The issue at stake is whether the revenue department should continue to take special features of imported articles into account when deciding if they are of a "class or kind" made in Canada.

This is of great importance to industry and importers. For instance in the case of such expensive capital goods as engineering machinery, the tariff is 7½ per cent if the item is not made in Canada, but 22½ per cent if it falls within the "kind or class" made in Canada.

In addition, imported items which are considered the same as those made in Canada become subject to Canada's dumping laws and the government can boost the tariff even higher to prevent sales in Canada at prices lower than those prevailing in the home market.

EXAMPLES

In each case it is up to the revenue department to make the "kind or class" ruling. In the case of automobiles and trucks, for example, it has ruled that all imported vehicles of this general type are of the "kind or class" made in Canada and therefore subject to the higher tariff rate.

But in other cases, it has taken specialized features into account. For example, it ruled that a huge imported mechanical shovel was not the same as those produced in Canada because the size of the bucket was different.

Dominion Hoist and Shovel Company of Montreal criticized this on the grounds that the term "class or kind" allegedly did not permit a breakdown into specialized features. Since mechanical shovels were produced in Canada, the imported item should bear the higher rate no matter whether special features of the two differed.

Because of the wide impact such a policy has on the entire tariff structure, the revenue department decided to refer the whole issue to the board for judgment.

Port Alberni Union Men Barred From U.S.

PORT ALBERNI, Sept. 17.—Two members of a 10-man delegation en route to Portland, Ore., as accredited representatives of Port Alberni's Local 1-85, International Woodworkers of America, were denied entry into the United States, it was disclosed here Tuesday.

The pair, George McKnight and Jack Nelson, both of this district, returned to their homes here Monday, after U.S. immigration officials turned them back at the border, Sunday.

Along with the other eight I.W.A. delegates, they were planning to attend the I.W.A.'s annual convention which opened in the Oregon city, Monday.

Reasons for the U.S. action were not released but various Canadian union officials have been denied entry into the U.S. in recent years apparently because of their individual political affiliations.

N.S. Schooner Hard Aground, 17 Crewmen Safe

HALIFAX, Sept. 17 (BUP).—The schooner Ronald George ran aground on the rocky Nova Scotia coast during the night. All 17 crewmen had to clamber into dories and head away from the reef in the direction of the open sea.

A marine radio spokesman says a high-speed naval launch located the men in four separate dories and all were taken ashore. They were reported to be in "good shape" although soaked to the skin and chilled by wind.

The Foundation Maritime Salvage tug Vera has been dispatched to the scene and is reported to have taken the 12-dory schooner in tow. The Ronald George was stuck fast on the rocky perch but is expected to be freed by the Vera at first high tide.

The craft is believed to be out of Lunenburg, Nova Scotia.

OTTAWA, Sept. 17 (CP).—Police Tuesday were asked to track down a thief with a passion for neatness.

The "cleaning," she said, went even farther than that. Five dollars was missing from a bureau drawer.

PRESS CAMERAMAN COOLED OFF BY IRATE JAPANESE PREMIER

KYOTO, Japan, Sept. 17 (Reuters).—Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida cooled off a press photographer Tuesday night by dumping a glass of water on his head during a political rally.

The prime minister, known for his dislike of cameramen and flash bulbs, complained that his right of free speech was being infringed by the actions of photographers. His water-pouring gesture brought complaints from the audience that he was infringing on the freedom of the press.

Labor Throws Weight Against N.B. Liberals

Battle Over Unionism Finds Tories Hesitant Allies in Maritime Election

FREDERICTON, N.B., Sept. 17 (BUP).—Organized labor's political fire was loosed at Premier John B. McNair's Liberal forces today on the eve of New Brunswick's 22nd general election.

Only five days remained before the scheduled Sept. 22 polling date, and Labor suddenly terminated a period of official silence and ripped into the party seeking its fourth consecutive mandate.

The turnout was kicked off here by union leaders attending the annual convention of the New Brunswick Federation of Labor.

Federation President James A. Whitebone of Saint John, scored the Liberals and called on the body to "elect your friends and defeat your enemies."

Whitebone's attack gave rise to speculation that an unofficial alliance might be in the offing between Labor and Hugh John Flemming's Progressive Conservatives.

The 53-year-old Conservative leader appeared reluctant, however, to plunge openly into any specific stand on labor matters. The Conservatives continued to hedge on the question of international unionism's position in the field of public service, an issue on which McNair said his government would "stand or fall."

While 123 candidates in 17 counties neared the wind-up phase of their battle for seats in the 52-member legislature, the Liberals continued to hammer away on the theme that international unionism had no place in the public service, and should be barred from that field.

The Conservatives continued just as steadfastly to shy away from the bait and nailed down the planks in a program blasting the government for a burdensome provincial debt, an equally burdensome 4 per cent sales tax, a lack of good roads and a shortage of proper school facilities.

Many predicted an upset Conservative victory, or at least substantial additions to the five-seat bloc the party held in the legislature at dissolution July 16. At that time, the Liberals had 46 seats. One seat in Kent County, formerly held by a Liberal, was vacant.

Two Up-Island Loggers Die Accidentally

COURTENAY, Sept. 17.—Nicholas Blaseckie, 56-year-old bucker, of Oyster River, died within minutes Tuesday when hit by a falling tree at the Wolk Lake operations of the Comox Logging & Railway Co., Ltd.

Fallers Frank Wortman and Andrew Tloski ran to his aid but were unable to help. An inquest will be held here Tuesday.

The victim is survived by his widow and five children.

Peter Frederick Parkins, 37, died accidentally September 13 at the Western Logging Co., Neville Bay, according to a coroner's jury.

A Vancouver man and father of a child of three months, he was killed when crushed between two logs while running to safety. He was employed as a loader.

CANADIAN GIRL IN STAR ROLE

Miss Foster, a native of Edmonton, came to London in 1950 after radio work in Toronto. Her stage roles included a part in Orson Welles' "Othello."

THREAT OF VANCOUVER THEATRES CLOSURE ENDS

VANCOUVER, Sept. 17 (BUP).—The threat of any immediate closure of Vancouver district movie houses was removed today after the strike of about 30 film distributing union workers was ended Tuesday.

Orin Jacobson, international representative of the A.F. of L. Film Exchange Employees' Union, announced settlement of the three-and-a-half-week strike with workers getting wage increases ranging from $5 to $10 a week, retroactive to February 1 last.

The union had threatened to close movie houses by posting pickets which members of the projectionists' union had said they would honor, thus practically forcing the theatres to close.

Editors See 'Solid South' Voting Democrat

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (AP).—Southern editors rate it a 50-50 guess at this point whether the south will be solid or split in the 1952 United States presidential battle.

The consensus of those taking part in an Associated Press survey is that the bulk of the south once more will be safe for the Democrats. But newspaper men say that if the selection were held now General Dwight D. Eisenhower might be able to storm the Democratic fortress in the south and border states and snatch three or possibly five states from Governor Adlai E. Stevenson. Texas, Louisiana and Florida are the big question marks, Virginia and Kentucky are lesser ones.

In state after state, even in some of those considered certain to go Democratic as usual, editors and correspondents say Eisenhower will receive the biggest vote ever accorded a Republican presidential candidate.

The composite opinion of southern newspaper men is that Democratic nominee Adlai Stevenson is certain to sweep the presidential election in Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Oklahoma and West Virginia. Those nine states have 88 electoral votes.

Kentucky is considered close but fairly sure to go Democratic.

Virginia editors think their state is leaning toward Stevenson by such a scant margin as to be doubtful. Kentucky has 10 electoral votes, Virginia 12.

Editors are uncertain as to whether Texas, Louisiana and Florida, with 44 electoral votes among them, will remain Democratic or hop over to the Republican camp.

Gagardi Mum After Talks With Ottawa

Embargo Sought on Ore for Japanese

OTTAWA, Sept. 17 (CP).—Hon. P. A. Gagardi, works minister in British Columbia's new Social Credit government is on his way home by plane today after two days of talks with federal ministers in the capital.

The provincial minister said he had met with Trade Minister Howe, Agriculture Minister Gardiner and Resources Minister Winters, among others. He declined, however, to specify the extent of his discussions.

One of the matters was B.C.'s concern about shipment of iron ore to Japan. The B.C. government is seeking to have federal permits for such shipments withheld, but Mr. Gagardi declined to say if any decision had been reached here.

He said among other matters discussed was irrigation, particularly for the Kamloops area, and British Columbia's responsibility in the trans-Canada highway agreement. He indicated that he had a favorable reaction from Agriculture Minister Gardiner about the irrigation problem but said any word on the highway discussions would have to follow a meeting of the B.C. cabinet.

Creation of New Post Shelved by Churchmen

Proposed Office of Vice-Moderator Bogs
Before United Church's General Council

HAMILTON, Ont., Sept. 17 (CP).—A resolution calling for an office of vice-moderator to be created was shelved by the 15th biennial General Council of the United Church of Canada Tuesday night.

The question of a vice-moderator to assist the moderator, introduced Monday by Judge F. A. E. Hamilton of Winnipeg, was tabled on a motion of Rev. Gordon A. Sisco, secretary of the council.

A section of the policy committee report presented a memorial, as resolutions are called in council, from the lay advisory council. It recommended that it not be adopted.

During previous discussion, Judge Hamilton said he foresaw a moderator, always a minister, and a vice-moderator, a layman who would serve without salary. Many commissioners, mostly clergymen, objected to this interpretation, some saying they looked forward to the day when a layman would be elected to the church's highest office.

Dr. Sisco told council Tuesday night that the work of the policy committee would probably be extended over six years and it would be unwise to create new offices on motions from the floor while the committee was still studying the whole administrative set-up of the church.

He said the "cornerstone of this policy committee report was the strengthening of the executive general council."

"We are going to have to look into the problem of overlapping of the duties of administration boards."

The evening session was devoted to presentation of sections of the policy committee report which dealt with procedural changes in the administration of church business.

The effect of tabling the resolution on a vice-moderator had the effect of eliminating it from the agenda of this council. A commissioner could move that it be dealt with at this session but officials considered this highly unlikely. The question will go back to the policy committee.

SCRUBWOMAN ALARMS YARD

LONDON, Sept. 17 (Reuters).—Six Scotland Yard cars sped to Westminster Abbey today in response to a secret burglar alarm installed after the Coronation Stone theft on Christmas Day, 1950.

But nobody was after the stone this time.

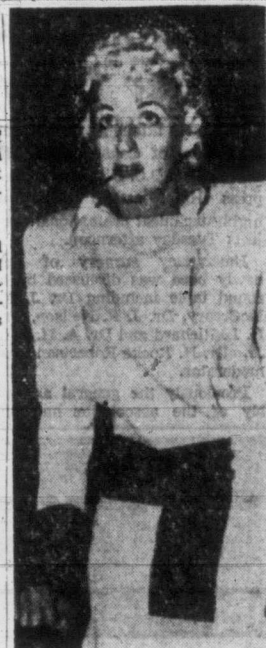

A scrubwoman had stumbled over the "hidden" wire at the Abbey's Corner entrance of the Abbey.

Elderly Woman Shows Improvement Following Gassing

Condition of Mrs. A. G. Wingate, 71, who was nearly asphyxiated by a leaking oven gas jet in her apartment at 1419 Harrison on Monday, is reported "fair" at Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Her husband, who was also taken from the apartment in a semi-conscious state, is recovering.

Mrs. Wingate's condition on Tuesday was reported as poor. Since then, however, she has shown signs of recovering from the effects of the gas.

GRIPPING HER chair in Los Angeles court, gay divorcee Mrs. Virginia Le Tourneau receives a four-month jail sentence and three years probation. Court disclosed that the 28-year-old woman had run away with her 17-year-old lover, Jimmy Sherwin, and they had engaged in a Mexican marriage ceremony prior to their elopement.

300,000 Allied Troops Engage in Manoeuvres

FRANKFURT, Germany, Sept. 17 (CP).—More than 300,000 Allied soldiers, sailors and airmen were locked in mock combat today in three huge manoeuvres testing the West's ability to defend itself against eastern invasion.

Warships of eight countries stepped up their "Operation Mainbrace" in the frigid North Sea. Canadian, British, Belgian and Dutch troops were engaged in their second day of operation "Hold Fast" in Northern Germany.

Along the middle Rhine the French army's autumn manoeuvres, with U.S. troops taking part, began with about 95,000 troops, 600 planes and 15 river patrol boats in aggressor and defense forces.

Top Allied military men were scheduled to arrive in Germany to watch the French Operation Equinox. They included Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the U.S. joint chiefs of staff; Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Atlantic Pact supreme commander in Europe; Marshal Alphonse Juin, commander of North Atlantic Treaty Organization ground forces in Europe, and the French defense minister, Rene Pleven.

In "Operation Hold Fast," the British 7th Armored Division ("Desert Rats") launched a six-pronged attack westward across the River Weser during the night toward the industrial Ruhr.

A protective armored screen sent out by the defending "Blue-land" forces fell back after all bridges across the river had been judged demolished. Three armored divisions were ready in battle positions to throw the first heavy opposition against the "Greenland" invaders.

Canada's 27th Infantry Brigade, 6,000 strong, is taking part in the exercise. "Enemy" air forces are commanded by Air Vice-Marshal C. R. Slemmon of the R.C.A.F., formerly air officer commanding at Trenton, Ont.

The plot of "Hold Fast" calls for Slemmon's force to gain air superiority and force the "Blue-land" defenders to withdraw, fighting delaying actions.

Meanwhile, the sea-going "Operation Mainbrace" was scheduled to finish after a night-long battle.

The Danish admiralty Tuesday night announced the dramatic finale, fought in darkness, would pit British, Danish and Norwegian naval forces against Danish coastal-defense fortresses.

FUNERAL SERVICES were held today for Mrs. Annie Smith of 2306 Cranmore Road, who died here Monday at the age of 97. Mrs. Smith, a well-known Victoria resident, served as a nurse in the Yukon during the gold rush days of 1898. She came to Canada from Scotland 56 years ago.

Victorians Set National Record As Most Air-Minded Travelers

Victoria is the most "air-minded" city of any terminal in the Trans-Canada Air Lines system, according to Gordon Wood, vice-president, who was here Tuesday on an inspection trip.

"In ratio of passengers boarding to population, Victoria is far in the lead," he said. "We have 66 passengers per month for every 1,000 of population—nearly 50 per cent more than the next city."

In terms of total traffic, Victoria ranks fourth, behind Toronto, Montreal and Vancouver.

"There has been a steady increase in traffic in and out of Victoria, culminating in a record of 11,517 boardings in August—an even greater number than the peak traffic during the steamship strike," Mr. Wood reported.

Air travel has been so popular this year that T.C.A. will extend its summer flight schedules to Oct. 31, instead of switching to a lighter winter schedule on Sept. 27, as in previous years.

Short "hops" to Vancouver and Seattle account for much of T.C.A.'s Victoria business. "Some people are airline commuters," Mr. Wood said.

T.C.A. is looking forward to receiving delivery of eight new Lockheed Super Constellation for use on its long over-water routes to Europe and the Caribbean. The company expects to have the first in service about the middle of 1954, Mr. Wood reported.

The Super-Constellation weighs 66 tons, and can fly nearly 4,000 miles non-stop with 75 passengers and a full fuel load. It cruises at 340 miles per hour, and can be converted to turbo-propeller power when this type of engine becomes available.

OKANAGAN EXTRA FRUIT MAY GO TO FREE STALL

Mrs. Barbara Green, operator of the free food stall, in the public market, hopes to have surplus produce from the Okanagan Valley for Victoria's underprivileged.

Returning from a tour of the Okanagan, she reported a sympathetic hearing from officials of the B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd.

The stall will open this Saturday in the market. Food donations will be received from 9 a.m. Distribution to those holding cards from social agencies will be from 2 to 4 p.m.

Mrs. Green is appealing for volunteer helpers.

Doctor-Delegates Discussions Cover New-Born Babies and Bills

Delegates attending the annual convention of Canadian Medical Association, B.C. Division, in Empress Hotel settled down to highly technical professional subjects Tuesday afternoon.

Emergency surgery of the newly born was discussed by a round table including Dr. J. F. McCreary, Dr. J. R. Neilson, Dr. H. L. Richard and Dr. A. H. Bill. Dr. H. Roche Robertson was moderator.

Previously the general assembly of the association had approved a policy of extra billing in certain circumstances for patient-members of the Medical Service Association.

The policy will be presented to the directors of M.S.A. for study and possible implementation, which could not take place for six months.

The new policy suggests that M.S.A. members be advised they might be liable for extra billing when they go to a doctor, specialist or general practitioner. It was pointed out to the assembly that M.S.A. in 1940 had 661 members and only 19 per cent of doctors were specialists; now there are 181,000 members and 43 per cent of doctors are specialists.

It was also announced Tuesday that a Canadian will be chairman of the World Congress on Medical Education in London next year, and that a British Columbian is one of three Canadian delegates.

The chairman will be Dr. Clarence Routley, executive secretary of the C.M.A., and Dr. M. M. Weaver, dean of U.B.C.'s faculty of medicine, will be a delegate.

It is well known that many doctors take a rather dim view of government-operated plans for medicine, but they do manage to maintain their sense of humor about it.

As witness the following document, which is receiving wide circulation at the convention of the Canadian Medical Association, B.C. Division, in Empress Hotel:

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

William Ricketts of Victoria pleaded guilty in city police court today to a charge of stealing an accordion over the value of $25, property of the Vienna Cash Co. The instrument was recovered from a Vancouver pawnshop, court was told.

Magistrate H. C. Hall remanded Ricketts until Friday for sentence.

For stealing a watch over the value of $25, Quintin S. Collins, a naval rating at H.M.C.S. Naden, was fined $50 by Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court today.

Victoria West Community Centre will hold its first meeting of the fall Thursday at 8 p.m. in the centre hall, Catherine and Edward Streets.

FAMOUS BALLET BILLED HERE

Victoria is included in the circuit of the National Ballet Company which will start a five-week tour of Western Canada on October 27, it was announced today.

The company, which includes 30 dancers and a staff of 10, is the largest professional Canadian ballet company to tour Canada. Cities on the company circuit include: Red Deer, Edmonton, Saskatoon, Lethbridge, Regina, Winnipeg, Fort William, Vancouver and Victoria.

B.C. Liberal Party Plans Its Future In Secret Parley

Future plans of the Liberal party in British Columbia were under discussion today at a closed-door meeting of the party's advisory council at Vancouver.

Plans for an early provincial-wide convention and the possibility of selecting a new leader to succeed former premier Byron Johnson were reported high on the agenda.

Sam McCrea, vice-president of the B.C. party, was chairman in the absence of Mrs. J. L. Gates of Victoria, president of the B.C. Liberal Association.

Mr. Johnson was attending the conference along with federal members of parliament, senators from B.C., the six Liberal members-elect of the legislature and candidates defeated in the June 12 provincial election.

Counsel Argue To Oust Union From Offices

Final arguments by counsel involved in Canada Safeway Limited's application to get rid of the Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Union, which has gained bargaining authority for zone office workers at the firm's Vancouver headquarters, were being heard today in British Columbia Court of Appeal.

It is expected the court will reserve judgment in the case, in order to study the various points raised by opposing counsel during the long trial.

Main argument of the company is that its zone office workers are employed in a confidential capacity. This is disputed by counsel for the union and counsel for the Labor Relations Board.

New type 12-minute parking meters will be installed on five city streets Thursday and Friday, Robert Doble, city traffic engineering assistant, said today.

The meters are distinctive in shape and silver in color. About 40 will be installed.

"People can stop only for 12 minutes," Mr. Doble said. "They merely put in the coin. There are no handles to wind."

The meters are to go on busy spots at Douglas, Government, Yates, Blanshard and Johnson.

George Donoghue and Leo Blanchette pleaded not guilty in city police court today to charges of begging in the city. Trial was set by Magistrate H. C. Hall for Thursday.

Archbishop Harold E. Sexton, long a champion of more enlightened liquor laws for British Columbia, today praised "the splendid start" made by the government in instituting a commission of inquiry to investigate the liquor situation.

Liquor Reform Steps Praised By Archbishop

"I am not prepared to make a statement at this time," he said following his return from the triennial session of the General Synod of the Church of England at London, Ont.

"In my opinion, though, the government has made a splendid start by appointing such a capable and representative committee of inquiry," he said. "I would like to congratulate those responsible for the appointment."

He anticipated that the public interest would be "well served" by the men selected.

They are Hon. H. H. Stevens, chairman, Very Rev. Dean Cecil Swanson, and George Home, secretary of the B.C. Federation of Labor, whose appointments were announced Sept. 12 by Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

The commission's job will be to determine the best manner of carrying out the June 12 plebiscite in favor of liquor sale by the glass.

Cathedral Dean Given Highest College Honor

Wycliffe Anglican College today awarded Very Rev. Philip R. Beattie, dean and rector of Christ Church Cathedral here, its highest honor.

At a special convocation in connection with its 75th anniversary, Wycliffe presented Dean Beattie with an honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity.

Dr. Beattie has been attending the triennial sessions of the General Synod of the Anglican Church in Canada, with other British Columbians.

From the synod's session in London, Ont., Dr. Beattie went to Toronto for the convocation at Wycliffe, which is affiliated with Toronto University.

He will return to Victoria Sept. 22, it is expected, too late to preach at Christ Church Cathedral this Sunday. But he is scheduled to deliver a sermon here Sept. 28.

Dr. Beattie is a graduate of Wycliffe in theology.

The new dean was appointed to Christ Church Cathedral July 15, 1952.

He came here from St. Catharines, Ont., where, as a canon, he held a rectoryship.

Dr. Beattie, 42, is one of the youngest deans in Canada.

Workmen Hurrying Repairs at Arena

Skating at Memorial Arena is scheduled to start on September 26, but there's lots of repair and renovation work to be done at the rink before manager Joe Dukowski breathes easier. Repairs to freezing pipes in floor of arena were being completed today. In picture, Dick Reith, left, chief engineer of rink, watches welder Roy Waters "tie in" new section of pipe. Concrete floor, torn up in seven places, will be patched Thursday. By next Wednesday, concrete will have been poured for new front-row seating and arena then should be pretty well set for heavy winter schedule.

Martin Won't Answer Charge

Sooke Resident Reports Prosecution Threat Over B.C. Insurance Arrears

Health Minister Eric Martin today declined comment on the case of a Sooke man who claims he has been threatened by the B.C.H.I.S. with prosecution for non-payment of hospital insurance-premium arrears.

F. R. Jones, R.R. No. 1, Sooke, complained the threatened prosecution was contrary to policy of the insurance service as outlined September 9 by the health minister in a statement on suspension of arrears.

The minister said arrears of persons delinquent in hospital insurance premium payments were being suspended to allow them to re-establish themselves in the B.C.H.I.S.

"However," he continued, "it should be noted that the hospital insurance service will, through procedures provided under act, continue to collect premium arrears for 1949, 1950 and 1951 from those persons who can well afford to pay, by making arrangements for installment payments if necessary in accordance with their means."

Procedures provided under the act include the right to prosecute for non-payment of arrears.

At this time in 1947, previous peak year in B.C., there had been 231 cases reported, Dr. Amyot said.

In the Vancouver area latest victims are a five-year-old boy and his 21-month-old sister from Halfmoon Bay, and a five-year-old girl from Horseshoe Bay.

Health officials report the Halfmoon Bay children are the third instance of "secondary infection"—where the disease is transmitted by one member of a family to another—to be reported this year.

Victoria Musical Arts Society will sponsor Seattle pianist Randolph Hokanson in an evening recital, Oct. 22, at Victoria High School.

Transportation personnel also will know what time it is, having had to qualify every inquiry of arrivals and departures with the phrase "standard time."

Fast Time Ends Midnight On Sept. 27

Daylight saving time will end officially in British Columbia one minute after midnight of September 27.

Stockmen whose cattle refuse to recognize man's tinkering with the time will find themselves once again with their milk cows and delivery schedules in accord.

Mayor Called 'Dictatorial' In Robert House Negotiation

Ottawa to Pay $132,000 On Civil Defense

Dominion Pledged To Pay Half Costs

Ottawa will support British Columbia's civil defense work to the extent of $132,000.

Federal Health Minister Paul Martin announced today that the federal government will pay 50 per cent of all the provinces' civil defense costs up to a maximum of $1,445,000.

B.C. Provincial Secretary Wesley Black, chairman of a cabinet sub-committee on civil defense, said discussion of federal aid was to be discussed by the committee late today.

Presumably the whole field of civil defense will be discussed in order that members may acquaint the cabinet with the problem and have policies established.

Accomplishments to date and what can be done with available funds also will be discussed, Mr. Black said.

Other committee members are Health Minister Eric Martin, Attorney-General Robert Bonner, Public Works Minister P. A. Gagliardi, provincial co-ordinator Gen. C. R. S. Stein and deputy provincial secretary R. A. Pennington.

Dowell Threatens to Call Special Council Session

Ald. Arthur Dowell charged Mayor Claude Harrison today with being "dictatorial" in his attitude on the sale of Prince Robert House.

He claimed further that the "mayor apparently refused to take the advice of his solicitor and is obtaining outside legal advice."

"If the mayor insists on holding the sale up on mere technicalities, I will insist on a special meeting to get things straightened out," said Ald. Dowell, who is chairman of the lands committee, which recommended the sale.

At the same time, the four-man syndicate whose offer to purchase Robert House for $42,000 was accepted by a 6-4 vote of council, announced financial arrangements complete for the entire $500,000 project.

The first phase—a block of stores—will cost about $100,000.

Crux of the problem now is interpretation of the Municipal Act which provides that the city must have a list of tax sale lands, together with the prices it is willing to accept, available to the public.

Mayor Harrison stated he has found no such list and only with a list can the city legally sell tax sale properties.

ILLEGAL SALES?

"If this is so," said Ald. Dowell, "every piece of property sold in Victoria in the past decade has been sold illegally."

"The city lands department never put a price on the lands. Naturally we try to get the best price we can."

The mayor said a city has no right to sell its tax sale lands on that basis. He contends the city must put a "reasonable" price on such properties and have them listed for sale.

The mayor stated he would "sign no papers" until he had an outside legal interpretation of the clause in question.

WITHHOLD COMMENT

Jonathan Dale and Frank Creed, two of the syndicate, said they would wait for the interpretation before making further comment, after a meeting with the mayor this morning.

They are all ready to start demolition, however, which they estimate will take two months. They feel they can complete the first phase of their plans by March, but "make no promises" with regard to the major phase after that.

"We have no intention of being delayed too long, however," said Mr. Dale. "The matter doesn't warrant it."

Immediate re-zoning of 620 Seaford Avenue for industrial purposes was asked of the city today by P. J. Sinnott and Sinclair Elliott. The property on the east side of Victoria Harbor is an industrial area, they claim.

He added that chamber officials would give careful study to the C.P.R.'s report before proceeding with the matter further.

C.P.R. Says Boat Service To Vancouver Not Paying

Protests of Victoria Chamber of Commerce against the B.C. Coast Service's announced winter schedule between Victoria and Vancouver were answered by C.P.R. officials at a special meeting in Victoria today.

The answer: The service does not pay.

W. Manson, vice-president, Pacific region, and H. C. James, general passenger agent, arrived here today to explain the company's position to president Tom Denny of the Victoria chamber, and other officials.

The chamber group pointed out that passengers from Victoria will not be able to catch the evening train to eastern Canada under the new schedule, which becomes effective Sept. 27.

The new schedule provides that the afternoon boat will leave an hour later.

C.P.R. officials said their studies of passenger traffic from Victoria show that an average of only four or five travelers from here catch the afternoon train to the east each day.

Most people from Victoria wait over until the following day in Vancouver before taking the train east, the C.P.R. officials said.

Moreover, the C.P.R. spokesmen explained, under the present schedule an average of only 210 passengers were carried between Victoria and Vancouver this year by ships calling for crews of 137 men each.

"It's not a paying proposition," the railway officials said, "and it seems clear that the present service is not required since it is not being used."

Mr. Denny said at noon that talks were still progressing with C.P.R. steamship officials.

"A full report on conditions governing the maintenance of service to Victoria will be presented to the Chamber of Commerce here by the railway," Mr. Denny said.

He added that chamber officials would give careful study to the C.P.R.'s report before proceeding with the matter further.

Doctors Prefer Voluntary Health Insurance

Steps taken by the medical profession to institute a national voluntary health insurance plan were outlined today by Dr. R. W. Richardson, Winnipeg, chairman of the economics committee of the Canadian Medical Association.

Speaking to the convention of the British Columbia Division in the Empress Hotel, Dr. Richardson reminded delegates that the C.M.A. is on record as favoring voluntary health insurance, but not a government operated scheme.

"The profession has sponsored or co-operated in 11 voluntary, prepaid plans in an effort to spread the cost of medical care," he said. "Now we are in the process of co-ordinating these individual plans."

"The Trans-Canada Medical Association, an unincorporated body, is now working on standardization of rates and benefits of all the voluntary plans in Canada—including, of course, British Columbia's Medical Service Association."

"We are certain to achieve this objective, so that it will be possible for a person to move from one part of Canada to another and enjoy the same benefits under each individual plan."

Dr. Richardson pointed out that at the end of 1951, more than 1,500,000 Canadians were protected by plans sponsored or endorsed by the C.M.A. Taking dependents into consideration, this accounts for about 35% of Canada's population.

"It is true that some people cannot afford these voluntary plans," said Dr. Richardson, "and that is where the government comes in. The federal government should subsidize those who need assistance, by paying all or part of their premiums."

"It should be up to the government to decide how to find out who is in need and how much assistance is required."

$100,000 Wing For Strathcona Hotel Promised

Construction Waits For Liquor Reform

As soon as B.C. liquor laws allow it, H. B. Olson, owner of the Strathcona Hotel, will build a $100,000 addition to his Douglas Street hostelry.

Mr. Olson plans to extend the restaurant facilities of the hotel when reforms allow the serving of alcoholic drinks with meals, he announced today.

The first phase—a block of stores—will cost about $100,000.

Crux of the problem now is interpretation of the Municipal Act which provides that the city must have a list of tax sale lands, together with the prices it is willing to accept, available to the public.

Mayor Harrison stated he has found no such list and only with a list can the city legally sell tax sale properties.

ILLEGAL SALES?

"If this is so," said Ald. Dowell, "every piece of property sold in Victoria in the past decade has been sold illegally."

"The city lands department never put a price on the lands. Naturally we try to get the best price we can."

The mayor said a city has no right to sell its tax sale lands on that basis. He contends the city must put a "reasonable" price on such properties and have them listed for sale.

The mayor stated he would "sign no papers" until he had an outside legal interpretation of the clause in question.

WITHHOLD COMMENT

Jonathan Dale and Frank Creed, two of the syndicate, said they would wait for the interpretation before making further comment, after a meeting with the mayor this morning.

They are all ready to start demolition, however, which they estimate will take two months. They feel they can complete the first phase of their plans by March, but "make no promises" with regard to the major phase after that.

"We have no intention of being delayed too long, however," said Mr. Dale. "The matter doesn't warrant it."

Immediate re-zoning of 620 Seaford Avenue for industrial purposes was asked of the city today by P. J. Sinnott and Sinclair Elliott. The property on the east side of Victoria Harbor is an industrial area, they claim.

He added that chamber officials would give careful study to the C.P.R.'s report before proceeding with the matter further.

KEITH OLSON
... new manager

"I am not in favor of seeing cocktail bars on every corner," he said. "I think the right way to serve liquor is with food. We'll build if anything develops to warrant it."

"And we're optimistic," he added.

The site for the hotel extension is available, behind the stores block on the Douglas-Courtney corner.

"The basement is there already," Mr. Olson explained. "We'd build right over it."

Simultaneously with the retirement of R. Burns, for some years with the hotel, Mr. Olson announced the appointment of his son, Keith B. Olson, as manager.

The new manager of the Strathcona is a graduate of Cornell University, in hotel and restaurant administration.

Lem Page, well-known hotelman, is assistant manager.

Meanwhile, another son, John, is finishing a two-year university course at Denver, Colo., and will join brother Keith in managing the Strathcona enterprises.

Centennial Members Help Minister Paint House

A happy group of 15 men in old clothes swarmed all over the manse behind Centennial United Church today, working like bees to finish a painting job they began Tuesday morning. The group, entirely voluntary, is composed of retired members of the congregation. Working with the oldsters is the church's new, young minister, Rev. Douglas B. Carr. Under the supervision of jovial Howard Harris, the men applied a first coat of paint to the minister's house Tuesday and were well on their way to finishing the second this afternoon. The building was last painted 14 years ago. (Times photo.)

Here's Produce News For Another Week!

By PENNY SAVER

Phoned my friend on wholesale row this morning and gathered as much information as I could for you.

Things are not coming in as fast and furiously as they were a couple of weeks ago, but the news on most of the produce is good.

So, take a look at the situation, Ma, and then gather yourself together and get in on the buys while they last.

Peaches—Okanagan peaches will be plentiful for another 10 days, so if you haven't already got around to preserving this delicious fruit you'd better step on it.

Pears—This is the last week for Bartlett pears from the Okanagan. They are still very good quality.

Grapes—Your best buy in this line is Tokay grapes. They are reasonably priced, in good supply and good quality.

Cantaloupe—Okanagan cantaloupe is on its last legs. At the end of this week it is expected to be over. The next supply will be from Washington or California.

Apples—Here's good news for all the family. The first of the McIntosh red apples from the Okanagan are expected to arrive in the city today or Thursday and will be on the stands by the week-end.

Potatoes—Local and Alberta potatoes are lower in price than last week. Still in good supply and good quality.

Celery—It's been years since celery was selling as low as it is right now. Both local and imported celery is excellent quality.

I meant to tell you this story yesterday but forgot all about it when I started talking about news.

It happened the other day when I had slipped out for a cup of coffee. I was sitting at the counter, you might say minding my own business, when one of the other regular customers came bounding in the door with a small box clutched in his hand.

He was simply bubbling and started talking to the girl behind the counter about a wonderful buy and so on.

I tried to refrain myself, but before I knew it I was just as busy asking him questions as the girl on the other side of the counter.

It turned out that in the box were two pens, one a ball point and a matching pencil.

He showed them to me and they really looked good. In fact, I even tried them out myself. They all worked like a charm.

This fellow with the pen and pencil set, who, by the way, runs a shop nearby, was so proud of the set that he made us try and guess its price.

I decided I would make him feel good so I guessed $3, thinking it would actually be quite a bit more.

"No," he replied.

Our friend behind the counter took a stab at $5 and got the same answer, "No."

We kept up this guessing game for quite a while with no success.

When we both refused to guess any more he came out with the startling news that the whole set was only 90 pennies.

"Oh, you're fooling," we both cried. But he assured us that that was the correct price.

It doesn't happen often, but here is a whopper of a bargain.

AS WE LIVE

Husband Runs to Mama When Things Go Wrong

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, Ph.D.

Many husbands run home to mother when things go wrong in their own homes. It happens almost as often as does the wife's running home to her mother. This wife doesn't know how to put a stop to it.

(Q) "Every time things go wrong between my husband and me, he packs his clothes and goes home to his folks. It's happened six times this year. I've always gone after him and begged him to come home for the sake of our four children. He's been gone now for three weeks and I don't know if I should go after him again. He claims that he loves me and the children but that married life is too confining. Now his folks are trying to talk him into a divorce but I will never consent to that. We are both 28 years old and should be able to talk things over sensibly but there is too much influence on his family's part and I can't reach him. What do you advise me to do?"

(A) Go straight to your minister and tell him your problem. Ask him to go to your husband's family and explain to them how unfair they are to you, your children, and their own son. He can make more headway with them than you or your family could.

Your husband may be 28 but he's certainly immature, especially in feeling that marriage is too confining. Any mature person knows that he can't have the freedom of his bachelor days after marriage, but that there are plenty of compensations.

He wants those compensations and freedom, too. That is never possible. Now he's in a situation that's proving too much for him and he's trying to run away from it. Don't give him a divorce. He is legally responsible for you and your children. A divorce would make it difficult for you to hold him to his responsibilities.

Your minister may be able to show your husband that he is shirking his duties and that he's unfair to you when he allows you to assume all the responsibilities of the home and family while he goes home to his parents.

If you have a problem about family or friend, ask Dr. Hurlock to help you. Write in care of this newspaper.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Are You Naturally Lazy? You May Find That It Pays

Not long ago I read some articles about how to be lazy. These surprised me because being lazy certainly comes naturally to me. I seem to have a talent for it. I thought that all human beings are lazy, but maybe I am wrong. At least I believed that they like I, have to be spurred on because of necessity, or a desire for certain results, a great dream, or a tack in the seat of their chair. I still believe this is true, but the funny thing is—or the sad thing is—once human beings start out to conquer whatever they decide to conquer, or to accomplish whatever they want to accomplish—there seems to be no middle ground for them. They bat it out of life, even if it kills them, and often keep battling after they have it.

I believe in having goals to shoot at. I understand how important it is to have interesting and new work to do, how enlivening and vitalizing, yet I seem to have cutoffs, thank heavens!

Whenever I find myself freezing on a goal like a setter does on a goal—neither of us knowing why we are freezing or whether we will like the goal, or if the cost in training and experience and hard work are paying off, I become very lazy. I hope you do, too!

It all simmers down, if it doesn't boil over or burn, to a question of choices. Take the little woman in the home, who with the noblest intentions, is determined to become the best wife and mother possible. Then she is so grim about it all that she ruins her chances.

No one person can be everything. Everyone has limited energy and capabilities. Whether you are in a career or a home or both, you must decide which the important ingredients of happiness are for you, and for your family.

It may be a choice between a perfectly run house and gaiety and companionship with your family. It may mean paper napkins, nylon and non-crushable materials, a little dust, but more fun.

For the man or woman in a

18 Victoria Daily Times
WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 17, 1962

career it may be a choice between enjoying life with moderate success, or colossal success and a nervous breakdown and loneliness.

Everyone to his own lights! But—do not fail to weigh the price against the gain, and do not forget that, grimness and the inability to relax and enjoy life, in any field of human experience, are not worth the cost in health and in happiness.

P.T.A. Notes

Central Junior High—Mrs. A. E. Dulmage, Vancouver, gave a talk on necessity of parents joining parent-teacher groups and of taking an active part in helping their children to better fit themselves for duties as parents of the future, at a meeting of the Central Junior High School P.T.A. She suggested greater co-operation with teachers in education and by doing their share in the home. A short musical film was presented and refreshments were served.

Monterey—It was reported at meeting of Monterey P.T.A. that 90 canvas chairs for outdoor classrooms were expected. T. Moulds introduced the executive and W. Brynjolsson presented members of the staff. Mrs. N. Beere gave a report of the Grade 8 graduation party and Mrs. M. Heppell on school sports day. W. Muncy announced that pupils interested in art should submit samples of work to the principal by Sept. 28. Three pupils from the school may attend the Saturday morning art classes.

Afternoon eaters will appreciate a refreshing drink made like this. Combine equal parts of ice-cold apricot whole fruit nectar and ginger ale. Serve in tall glasses garnished with sliced lemon and mint sprigs.

FREIGHT RATE DROP CAUSED BY TRUCKS

Railways Have Had to Lower Charges So They Can Compete With Transcontinental Carriers

WINNIPEG, Sept. 17 (CP).—Low rates and speedy service by truckers are held responsible by trucking interests here for a reduction in freight rates by Canadian railways.

The railways already have announced a 17-per-cent freight reduction to match the competition of transcontinental auto carriers. The rates were reduced from $4.37 to $3.63 per 100 pounds between Oshawa, Ont., and Winnipeg. Truckers' rates are $3.88, but they said that is about equal to the new railway figure of $3.63 plus unloading charges.

Rail rates on poultry and butter also have been cut and truck officials said it was expected reductions soon would show on rail shipments of fruit. But, truckers are not worried about these reductions. They said they are confident their business will continue due to "generally equal rates and speedier service."

The trucking business first started to boom in Manitoba around the late 1930's and has been growing since. "The 1950 railway strike was one of the best things that ever happened to truckers," said Harvey Bachman of Winnipeg, secretary of the Manitoba Automotive Transport Association. "The railways are still paying for that strike."

When every boxcar was frozen to sidings for nine days during the rail strike, frantic shippers turned to the trucking industry, Mr. Bachman said.

In their "finest hour," truckers labored up to 24 hours a day. Mr. Bachman said many shippers have not moved a pound by railway since.

Manners Poor, Britons Told

LONDON, Sept. 9 (CP).—A few unvarnished facts about receiving visitors for the coronation are being dished out to the British public.

Sir Alexander Maxwell, chairman of the British Travel and Holidays Association, says Britain's tourist industry is at the crossroads. A tourist plan is needed, he adds, if the industry is to be developed as it should be and new money attracted to the country.

He emphasizes that if the home population must go without in order to provide visitors with the best available, that is the way it must be.

Sir Harry Brittain, a member of the council, was even more outspoken. He said that in his opinion the United Kingdom is one of the world's most untidy nations.

Talks are being held already with hotel and restaurant associations by Sir Alexander, who is keenly aware of criticism about service. He says Britons who go abroad for vacations do not help by boosting their own country.

Last year Britain's tourist industry brought £73,000,000 in foreign currency into the country, £23,000,000 of which was in dollars.

Compromise on City Bus, Truck Parking

Bus stop adjustments to give B.C. Electric buses more loading zone space in peak hours and trucks the space during slack hours were approved by City Council's public works committee Tuesday.

Robert Doble, traffic engineering assistant, termed the plan a "compromise" between requirements of the transportation company and trucking interests, who took part in discussions.

"It provides a large number of loading zones between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m., which is the time when the need is most desperate, and gives space away from 7 a.m. to 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. when the parking and loading problem is less severe," Mr. Doble said. A streets traffic by-law amendment to permit all-night parking in residential areas was recommended by Mr. Doble.

Cars would have to park directly in front of residences of the owners. This would include apartment buildings. The committee tabled the report pending receipt of another from the chief of police.

Victoria Garages Ltd. will present a brief to the city asking where city, town planning and traffic officials think their proposed $400,000 parking garages should be built.

Barbara Brent's BUYS AND WHYS

MONTREAL, September 18th—Right now—from Canada's most fertile farmlands—comes a special crop of the finest tomatoes you've ever tasted. They're filled with health-giving vitamins and minerals—they're utterly delicious—they're the tomatoes that are fresh-packed for your eating pleasure in Heinz famous tomato "soups," Heinz Tomato Ketchup, Heinz Chili Sauce, Heinz Cream of Tomato Soup and Heinz Tomato Juice. Watch for special "fresh pack" displays of HEINZ TOMATO PRODUCTS at your grocer's now. Stock up with a winter's supply from this newest Heinz harvest. It's yours for months of happy, wholesome, hearty eating.

Have You Heard The Good News? Your favourite BLUE BONNET DE LUXE MARGARINE now has each golden-yellow quarter pound individually wrapped in pure aluminum foil with inner parchment lining! It seals in that sunny-sweet "De Luxe" flavour—seals out ice-box odours. You'll find De Luxe Blue Bonnet extra convenient, too. Just unwrap what you need and serve. No slicing, scooping or re-wrapping. And you can forget your measuring cup when you're cooking with De Luxe Blue Bonnet. The handy chart on the package shows exactly when to cut for recipes. Ask for De Luxe Blue Bonnet Margarine, and get all these "De Luxe" advantages—and Blue Bonnet "De Luxe" quality, too.

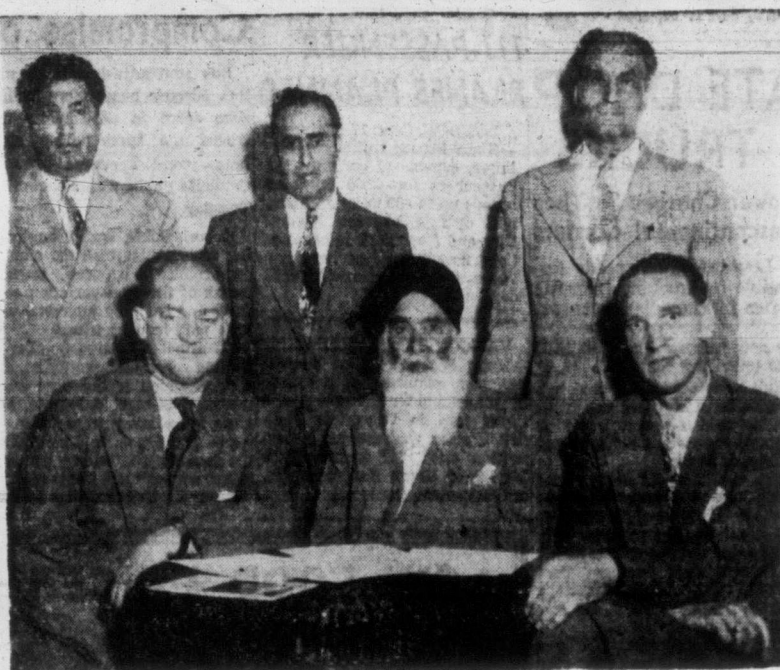

You'll Thank Your Lucky Stars for DOMOLITE.—I know you'll say it, too, when you see the new GURNEY Gas Range. Its designers have thought of everything for your convenience! Cooking and baking are made so much easier with the special Gurney features... automatic clock control—interior oven light... and, above all, the special Gurney "Even-Heat" oven that keeps the temperature exactly right—automatically—on the sides, the top, the bottom and even in the corners. But you'll want to see the new Gurney features for yourself. Ask your dealer to show you the new Gurney Gas Ranges—all of them "kitchen-tested" for carefree cooking.

"Laugh And The World Laughs With You"—Cry and you cry alone. It's an old, old saying but forever true! So, remember, next time you're feeling bluer than a rainy day, you should (and can!) do something about it. A glass of sparkling SAL HEPATICA taken before breakfast will make you feel like a new woman. And when hubby or son isn't feeling just right, either, suggest they try Sal Hepatica, too. Did you know that it's been a faithful family laxative for over sixty years? Umhmm. And another beauty about Sal Hepatica is that you can use it safely morning or at night when your system feels the need of a more thorough remedy. Next time you see your druggist, ask him for Sal Hepatica.

Even Small Bears have big appetites, but nothing compared to your school-agers when they come home for lunch. That's why it's a good idea to have yummy KRAFT DINNER always handy. Next time you buy it—the delicious "Kraft Dinner" you've always liked, but the package has a new, eye-catching design that speeds up your shopping because it's so easy to find. M-mmm! There's a wealth of good eating in that new red-and-yellow package! By itself or with other foods, "Kraft Dinner" makes a wonderfully appetizing dish. It's ready-to-cook macaroni-and-cheese at its best, and it cooks in only 7 minutes!... a wholesome main dish for 4 that costs less than 6 cents a serving!

I've Learned My Lesson!... after "gaspis" trouble with an ordinary, "slipping zipper," I'll never again buy anything but LIGHTNING SLIDE FASTENERS. You see, Lightning are the fasteners with that famous Automatic Lock. They slide at a touch, yet lock by themselves—no tab to press down—no prong to snag material. They were the first slide fasteners in Canada and now I've convinced myself they're still the best. When you buy Lightning, you get flexibility, durability, washability—a wide range of sizes and colours to choose from—PLUS the exclusive Automatic Lock and the perfection of expert workmanship. Yet they cost no more than an ordinary zipper. So insist on Lightning Slide Fasteners in the familiar red and black package.

Years Of Scientific Research have gone into solving a problem that concerns us women—that of intimate feminine cleanliness. ZONTORS are the result—and thousands of grateful women find them the most satisfactory method of feminine hygiene they've ever used. Greaseless, stainless, snow-white vaginal suppositories—Zontors are dainty and convenient to use. They're powerfully germicidal, yet absolutely safe to delicate tissues. For frank facts about the important subject of feminine hygiene, simply write to me—Barbara Brent, 1411 Crescent St., Montreal, P.Q.—and I'll send you a free booklet in a plain wrapper.

Briton Probes Why Radar Shuns 'Bergs'

CHURCHILL, Man., Sept. 6 (CP).—A British radar expert has been working in this northern Manitoba port to solve a big riddle—why sometimes radar screens don't pick up icebergs.

Ship captains have reported radar screens clear and suddenly an iceberg has showed close by. The radar expert, Rex Perry, of London, says it is believed the phenomenon is caused by refraction of radar waves when cool air lies over warm water.

The same thing can happen when warm air flows over cool water. Masts of ships leaving here have appeared stretching into the sky. Some have been seen upside down while others seem two vessels.

College Genetics Course to Explain Rules of Heredity

Exact mechanism which governs heredity will be described in a course to be given at the evening division of Victoria College this fall.

It is "Principles of Genetics," to be conducted by Dr. W. R. Foster, provincial pathologist, starting Sept. 25.

Dr. Foster will give his students a look behind the external features of animals, plants and men.

In developing the principles of heredity it will be possible for members of the class to approach many of the problems of agriculture, education and human society in a more understanding manner, according to an evening division spokesman.

"The course will be particularly valuable to anyone interested in plant and animal breeding and also to anyone who requires instruction in the meaning of scientific terms used in publications on heredity and genetics," he said.

LISTEN... Red Feather Workers

CKDA 9.05 p.m. CJVI 11 p.m.
 Tonight—For Things You Should Know!

A GOOD SAMARITAN

The little old lady had been planning to visit Canada for years. It was her life's ambition. Because she considered it best suited to her needs, she planned to stay at the Y.W.C.A. There she was suddenly taken ill soon after her arrival. "Y.W." workers took her to hospital, visited and cheered her there, communicated with her family and helped her through her convalescence.

That is the sort of good Samaritan's work the "Y" excels at; and through the years has earned the gratitude of thousands. But such works, and all the multiple activities of the association in this community would be jeopardized without the support provided by funds from the Red Feather campaign.

"Help us to help others," the Y.W.C.A. most earnestly appeals.

THIS IS A YOUNG MAN'S WORLD

This is a young man's world; and the Y.M.C.A.'s function is to prepare Canada's youth for the responsibilities and opportunities which come with the years of maturity. Everyone knows the work of the "Y." Everyone appreciates its value to the state and to the individual. But everyone has not the opportunity to support its program... until the Red Feather canvasser knocks on the door.

People who are interested in the welfare of youth, particularly men and women with no sons of their own, can make their contribution to "Y" programs through the Red Feather campaign.

"We have plotted our course; we are heading toward a bright future of achievement," a Y.M.C.A. spokesman said. "But without the fuel provided by the Red Feather drive our ship slows and could founder."

"Hot Flashes" Stopped or strikingly relieved in tests by doctors!

*If you're miserable from the "hot flashes" and accompanying irritable, restless feelings of "change of life" you may be suffering unnecessarily! For, in tests by doctors, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought relief from such functionally-caused suffering—in case after case! Complete or striking relief.

Yes! Research has proved Lydia Pinkham's thoroughly modern action has shown you where to look for relief from those distressing, nervous, "out of sorts" feelings of mid-life "change!" So get Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, or new, improved Tablets. Both are grand, too, for functional pains and "weak" feelings of monthly periods.

B.C. Doctors Keeping Up With Current Need

B.C. is "neck and neck" with Ontario, and ahead of all other provinces in Canada, in the ratio of doctors to population, it was revealed at a meeting of the B.C. College of Physicians and Surgeons in Empress Hotel Tuesday.

Members were told there is no shortage of doctors in this province. Dr. W. R. Lynn Gunn, registrar of the college, said a survey made by the University of British Columbia at the end of the Second World War showed that 60 new doctors per year would be needed to fill expected losses from death and retirement. "In the years following the war, we have registered double that number of new members of the profession each year," he reported.

The faculty of medicine at U.B.C. is geared to graduate 60 doctors yearly, and others come into the province from other areas.

Dr. Clarence Routley, executive secretary of the Canadian Medical Association, told the college that he had found no difficulty in licensing "G.P." doctors in any of the provinces, as long as they are properly qualified to practice.

A vote of thanks was passed to honor Dean M. M. Weaver of U.B.C. for the manner in which the faculty of medicine has tackled the problem of keeping up the ratio of doctors to population in B.C.

NEW SOVIET CHINA PACT 'FACE SAVER'

Let Reds Escape Promise to Leave

BY FRED HAMPSON

HONG KONG, Sept. 17 (AP).—The Moscow agreement announced on Tuesday shows Russia maintains her grip on Manchuria, using an alleged military threat by Japan as an excuse for holding Port Arthur indefinitely.

It will surprise no seasoned observer here to learn—once the whole story is told—that Russia emerges with a greater share than ever in that rich region it has coveted since Czarist days.

Russia appears to have made a major concession by giving up control of the Changchun railway, main line of transportation in Manchuria. The line supposedly has been jointly operated with China.

This undoubtedly is only so much face-saving for Russia's Red Chinese ally. Port Arthur is the coastal terminal of the railway. Undoubtedly, Russia retains freight-hauling privileges.

In any case, the fact remains that Russia stays in Manchuria whereas she promised in 1950 to clear out by the end of this year.

The pretext for staying was framed this way: "Red China's Premier Chou en-lai, asked the Russians to keep a garrison in Port Arthur because of the 'danger' of renewed aggression from a rearming Japan."

Under the Moscow agreement, the Russians will stay in Port Arthur until Japan signs a treaty with Red China and Russia. But the Peiping radio says Japan has no intention of signing a treaty with either country.

A Peiping radio broadcast said there was danger that the U.S. would spread the war in Korea to China.

West Coast Merchants Protest 14-Day Service

West coast merchants today voiced fears that their businesses will be strangled by lack of frequent mail and freight service.

"We need at least an eight-day service," said Mrs. Elizabeth MacAulane, operator of a grocery store at Port Renfrew.

She said that Port Renfrew merchants had been without mail for two weeks, from Aug. 30 to Sept. 12.

"We can't possibly carry on under these conditions," she said.

"We received no invoices from our suppliers in the fortnight and we can't tell when we will be able to get food in."

Maurice Palmer, hotel operator at Port Renfrew, today wired Maj. Gen. Pearkes, federal M.P. for the district, asking for support of the west coast residents' efforts to get better mail service.

J. A. Anderson, hardware merchant at Port Renfrew, supported Mrs. MacAulane's charge that businesses in the district were being hurt badly.

"Announcement Monday by the now we may be worse off than which recently broke down and was taken off."

C.P.R. officials announced Monday that the 500-ton freighter Veta C. has been chartered from the west coast for the west coast 10-day service. But the old Ma Union Steamships for the west coast Island run. The Veta C. will serve the west coast residents," days. What do other folks see in Victoria?

The hanging flower-baskets? The Legislative Buildings, illuminated at night by 3,000 light bulbs? Butchart's Gardens? Our beautiful homes and gardens? Fighting Tyee salmon? of course!

And when the great mass media of North America look this way for informed comment on the Victoria scene, what newspaper do they read? The Victoria Daily Times, of course!

In recent weeks, Times Editor Bruce Hutchison has been cited by Fortune magazine as one of the eight Canadians "who influence the nation's thought and opinions." Other nationally-known media which have helped make The Times the most-quoted newspaper on Vancouver Island—*by a ratio of five to one over any other newspaper—include The New York Times, The Financial Post, Reader's Digest, Time, Maclean's, Saturday Night, Toronto Globe and Mail, Winnipeg Free Press, Christian Science Monitor, etc.

ELK FALLS NEWSPRINT MILL

B.C.'s ANSWER TO A GLOBAL PROBLEM

Opening of the new, $22,000,000 newsprint mill of the Elk Falls Company Limited, at Duncan Bay, Vancouver Island, signals a key contribution to easing of the global newsprint shortage.

It also opens a chapter in the industrial annals of the Province, and constitutes a major advance in the program of complete utilization of our forest resources to the best advantage of all people.

The first newsprint mill to be built in British Columbia in 35 years and the first in Canada in 15 years, the Elk Falls plant is designed to produce 320 tons of newsprint paper per day for the free press of the world. This approximates 100,000 tons per year.

Guiding principles in the Elk Falls Company's program which eventually will involve an outlay of $40,000,000

- Complete utilization of waste wood.
- Maximum conservation and regeneration through efficient forest management.
- Ultimate complete operational integration.

The scientific blending of these elements means:

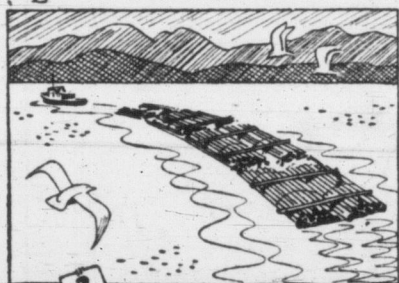

- An increase in B.C.'s employment and payrolls.
- Canada's position as the world's largest newsprint producer is expanded.
- New strength is given the free press of the world through increased supply of a vital raw material.

1 THE COMPANY'S Forest Management License area constitutes a 370,000 acre tree farm located on Vancouver Island and on islands in Johnstone Straits, and will produce 15,000,000 cubic feet of timber per year after 1974.

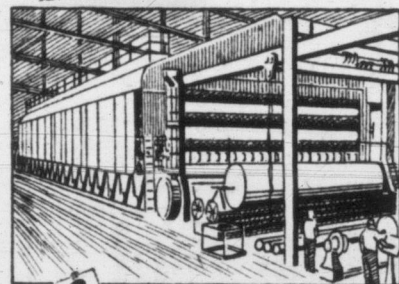

4 THE ELK FALLS Company's development sustains and expands employment. It provides a new source of income for Duncan Bay area independent operators, because the mill is strategically located for a large supply of wood from tree farms.

2 ALL WOOD from the License area will be processed at Duncan Bay. Until the tree farm comes into production, the mill will operate on wood previously considered waste.

5 THE NEW MILL provides permanent employment for a large number of local residents. The B.C. economy is boosted by drawing more dollars from increased newsprint sales in foreign markets.

3 THE NEWSPRINT machine is the most modern and one of the largest in the world and is designed to produce newsprint at 2,000 feet per minute.

6 THE DUNCAN BAY MILL is a new source of newsprint for the free press of the world.

Giant Pulp Mill Builds B.C. Prosperity

It needed 435 freight-car loads of materials to complete the $22,000,000 newsprint mill of Elk Falls Company at Duncan Bay, latest addition to Canada's leading industry—newsprint production.

The mill is the first newsprint producer built in this country in nearly 30 years. As a result it incorporates all the latest features of design in production machinery and plant layout.

The new plant's official opening this week on Vancouver Island attracted hundreds of industrialists who came to view the up-to-date equipment and production process.

The mill is located on the quiet tidal water of Seymour Narrows on the south shore of Duncan Bay, Vancouver Island, about two and one-half miles north of Campbell River.

The plant site slopes gently towards the shore and the area forms a favorable location for some 12 acres of buildings. None of the main buildings have a ground floor elevation greater than 10½ feet above the level of the wharf docks.

SWIFT MOVING

The mill's woodroom is designed to provide barked cordwood, less than 16 inches in diameter, to the ground wood mill at the rate of more than 20 cords an hour.

In design of the equipment, emphasis has been placed on welded steel construction. The logs come from the pond to the woodroom via a steel log haul with manganese chain. At the entrance to the building is mounted a huge 102-inch circular saw which nips the long timber, in a second, to 24-foot size.

A four-chain deck serves as storage for the logs ahead of the barker and enables the barker operator to process his logs independently of the log haul man.

JUSTLY PROUD

Elk Falls company officials are justly proud of the tremendous piece of mechanical equipment which makes up the barker. Made by Western Barkers Ltd., it uses water pressure for stripping the bark off the logs at 1200 pounds per square inch.

After being cut into lengths, the blocks are dropped to a conveyor, from the far end of the barker, which carries them in 49-inch lengths to a flume leading to the groundwood mill.

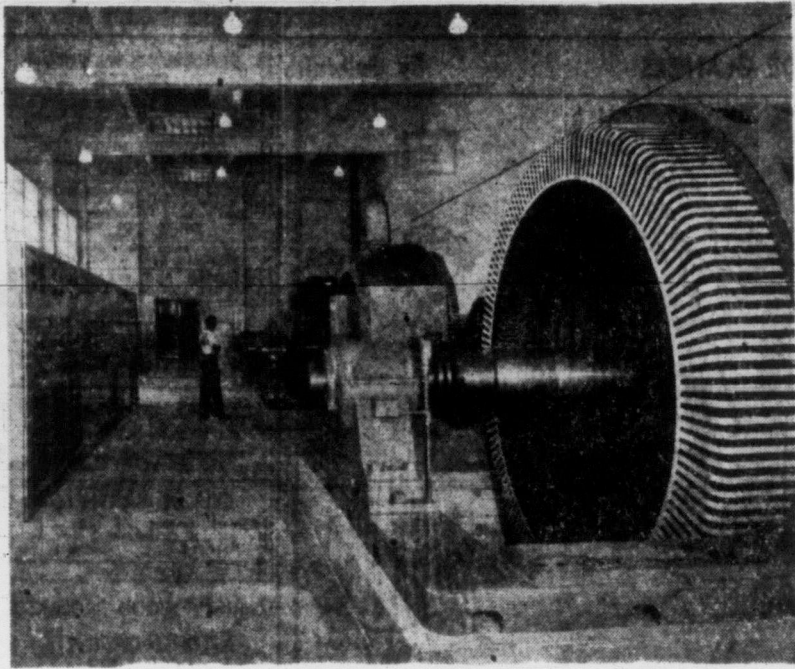

Thereafter, the mechanics of the newsprint-making operation take place out of sight within the huge grinders and vats until the first wide sheets appear on the drying rollers.

The plant is a one-machine newsprint mill with a capacity of 100,000 tons a year.

Of the total pulp requirements of the newsprint mill, groundwood pulp will comprise approximately 80 per cent with the balance sulphite pulp.

CO-OPERATION

No sulphite pulp mill will be built initially at Duncan Bay. Pacific Mills will supply the

A view of one of the tremendous 5,000-h.p. motors needed to drive each grinder. The logs enter the grinders in 49-inch lengths, stripped of bark, and emerge as a boiling grey pulp. Within the grinders the wood is crushed by heavy stone rollers. The Elk Falls Co. equipment for this job is latest design.

necessary sulphite pulp from its Ocean Falls plant.

Engineering experience of Pacific Mills Limited was called upon by the company in the design, construction and operation of the new plant. Central research department of Pacific Mills provided technical data and other engineering information.

The building housing the newsprint machine is designed for future expansion and removal of one temporary wall will provide space for a second similar machine when required.

Construction set a record pace for this type of plant. Excavation started December 6, 1950, and the new mill was completed and undergoing test runs by May, 1952.

Water, a prime essential in newsprint manufacture, is delivered by three miles of 36-inch pipe providing up to 25,000,000 gallons per day of pure water from Campbell River.

VITAL FACTOR

Heat, a big factor in pulp and paper making, comes from a boiler plant which generates 170,000 pounds of steam an hour at 650 pounds pressure.

Floor space totals 165,000 square feet in one enclosure 750 feet long by 90 to 147 feet wide encompassing the major operation from grinding pulp to winding the newsprint rolls.

Size of the project may be grasped from the following statistics on construction of the mill and the equipment involved:

Excavation required 460,000 cubic yards; dredging, 360,000 cubic yards; concrete, 24,000 cubic yards; 1,400 tons of reinforced steel; 2,400 tons of structural steel; 7,300,000 board feet of lumber; 2,000 treated fir piles driven to support the structures; 400 electric motors ranging from a fractional horsepower unit of five pounds up to a 5,500 horsepower unit of 50 tons.

There are 20 miles of electrical conduit and 100 miles of electrical wire of all kinds. The three and one-half miles of wood stave piping for the mill used 37,000 steel pipe bands of various sizes.

The 36-inch diameter wood-stave pipe to supply water for the mill used 14,200 steel bands of ½ inch width and 12,500 ½ inch steel pipe bands.

There are 23 miles of steel pipes of various sizes. The newsprint machine alone weighs 2,250 tons.

Red Feather Campaign Will Help 'Y's' Citizen-Building Program

BY DON INGHAM

Year in and year out the Y.M.C.A. plays an important part in teaching boys and young men the basic Christian principles that will make them citizens of the finest type.

The "Y" is not interested in just underprivileged children. It is interested in all boys, and in its huge program of athletics and boys' work manages to solve quite a few problems.

One of the 17 agencies sharing in the Red Feather services which will seek public support in the campaign opening Sept. 25, the "Y" here is best known for its swimmers, developed in the pool of its Blanshard Street headquarters.

It turns out hundreds of swimmers who are not champions, though. Take the case of the young lad whose fear of the water was such that it took three full seasons before he was taught to swim.

Even then he was no champion, and never did win a medal, but on two different occasions he jumped into the water and saved two lives. F. V. Shoemaker, secretary, and Archie McKinnon, athletic director, know all the details of the instance.

Apparently those boys who have been in the Y.M.C.A. know best what it means to a youngster. Mr. Shoemaker received a letter not long ago from two merchant seamen who met in Antwerp, and in swapping yarns found they had both been to "Y" camp.

"Between the two of us," they wrote, "we would like to see a couple of lads, who otherwise would not get the opportunity, spend a couple of weeks at camp, or have a year's membership at the time when it will do the most good. We will leave it to you to decide just what is best, and if you will send the 'tab' to us at the address below we will see that it is taken care of as soon as received."

The Y.M.C.A. starts a long-range project every time it takes a little chap under its wing and lends its guidance until he reaches maturity, but the results are gratifying.

Leaders of all kinds come from the "Y" ranks, and their contributions to their communities—especially Victoria—is more than just coincidence.

Intensive Campaign to Bolster U.K.'s C.D. Corps Under Way

LONDON, Sept. 9 (CP).—An intensive campaign to bolster Britain's under-manned civil defense corps by more than 1,000,000 new volunteers, will be launched this fall.

The drive is a sequel to public apathy to previous appeals for part-time recruits, a situation government spokesmen attribute to widespread misunderstanding that the advent of the atom bomb has made civil defense useless.

Since the country's "fourth arm of defense" was revived in November, 1949, approximately 265,000 volunteers have enrolled in all branches of the service, a figure regarded as inadequate to meet a major emergency.

Latest figures show that Newcastle, with 66 per cent, is the only centre to reach the half-way mark of its enrolment target. Bristol is next with 48 per cent, while London and Liverpool, priority targets of enemy raiders in the Second World War, are trailing far behind with 21 per cent.

The new approach will be initiated October 1, under a special home office committee headed by William Mahane, parliamentary secretary to the ministry of home security from 1930-42. A country-wide appeal will be sent out shortly to civil defense authorities urging local and regional house-to-house canvasses for new members. Later, a letter will be sent to all eligible for service, followed by a personal interview.

Under the revised scheme it is planned to broaden part-time enlistment qualifications to take in men not likely to be required for service in the armed forces in the early stages of an emergency, provided they are not already performing similar whole-time duties.

Women between 18 and 30 will also be allowed to volunteer for service with headquarters and warden sections of the civil defense corps, as well as the special constabulary, irrespective of previous service.

Coinciding with the campaign announcement, Home Secretary Sir David Maxwell Fyfe said his department was supervising operational research to assist in evaluating effects of possible air attacks in terms of damage and casualties.

WRONG IMPRESSION

"There was at one time a wrong feeling that the advent of the atom bomb made all civil defense useless," he said. "We do not believe this, but it doesn't follow that we underestimate its potentialities."

The minister admitted that if an atom bomb were exploded over a British city damage would be great, the fires resulting from heat flash would be numerous and difficult to cope with, while gamma rays would be a new cause of casualties. But the danger of lingering radioactivity had been greatly exaggerated.

Government policy, he said, must be to ensure that mobile defense columns could be brought into action with as little delay as possible after the outbreak of war.

Sir David said arrangements had already been made for establishment of an experimental column, to be manned by army and R.A.F. personnel for an initial 12 months' period. It was hoped, he added, this plan would be ready for practical operation by next January.

In conjunction with this plan 11 food convoys have been stationed at strategic centres throughout the country and teams are being trained to operate them.

PRICE: 7 CENTS
SATURDAY, 10 CENTSGUNS COVER DESPERADOES
WHILE IN TORONTO COURTBoyd Describes
Escape MethodDesperado Took Off 20 Pounds
To Gain Freedom Through Bars

TORONTO, Sept. 17 (CP).—Edwin Boyd said today he took off 20 pounds to escape through a hole cut through the bars of the death row cell block at Don Jail September 8.

"It took us nearly a month to cut through those bars," he said in a first-person story in the Telegram.

"Where did we get the saws? They were brought in, that's all I'll tell you."

"How did we get out of the cells? With a key made from a spoon and tin cup handle. That key opened all the doors."

"We had only one period a day that we could use the saws to cut through the bars. That was from 5.20 to 7 a.m., when there was no danger of a guard entering our cell corridor to punch the clock."

Every morning the sawing went on. The gang was helped by the absence on holidays of a senior deputy who made it a rule to test all the bars on the windows and rattle the bars on the cells on any inspection he made.

"We used shoe blackening and pieces of cardboard to fill in the places where we sawed through. But if any of the guards had hit the bars they would have fallen apart. Every day we hid the cell key and the hacksaw blades in a crack in the floor at the end of the corridor."

"We didn't know how well guarded the jail was from the outside but we felt that if we made our bid in the dark we would have a better chance."

Accomplice May Have Helped

Police say they are not convinced the desperadoes escaped through the 9-by-13-inch opening in the bars. Another theory is that they were let out a side door of the jail by an accomplice.

"We had taken off 20 pounds each to crawl through this opening," Boyd said. "It didn't have much trouble making it, but for the others it was a tight squeeze."

"From the ledge we jumped on to a retaining wall and then crawled on our hands and knees along the 18-foot high wall between the two rear yards."

"We lay flat on our stomachs on the top of the wall until both police and guards passed out of sight. We scrambled down that wall in record time."

The four made their way up railway tracks in the Don valley in east Toronto.

They hid in bushes all day. They spent the first night in the valley a mile from the jail.

The second night they reached their hideout, the empty house and barn in North York in which they were later captured.

"How we got there and why we picked that particular barn, I'm not telling. It was a good hideout but, it was sure dirty."

Driven Directly to Hideout

Police said today they believe criminal associates met the four outside the jail and drove them directly to the hideout, furnishing them with money, extra clothing and an artificial foot for Leonard Jackson.

Boyd continued:

"We had money to buy food but we were afraid to trust our luck too far and attempt to buy some at a store."

"So we did the next best thing. We raided the neighboring farms at night and stole potatoes, tomatoes and corn. We built a bonfire deep in the bush and tried to cook these vegetables. They were half-cooked or burned, but they kept us from starving."

"Because of the large manhunt we decided to stay in the bush during the day and to sleep in the barn at night. But our stomachs got the better of us. We wanted bread, tobacco and milk."

"Willie Jackson volunteered to be our supply man. He argued that he was the least known of the four of us and could disguise himself better. He cut his hair and shaved off the front part and tried a tobacco store on Yonge Street first."

Went Shopping for Groceries

"Then he got bolder and went shopping for groceries. He went to Yonge Street store and bought bread and cans of beans. He was even able to pick up some news about the manhunt, the number of guards that had been suspended and how they were going to hold a royal commission inquiry into our escape."

"But he didn't tell me anything about my wife pleading in the press and over the radio to give myself up. If he had I would have surrendered at once. There would be no other course to take."

Durned if I kin see how them Boyd gang fellers got back t' Ontario so quick from here.

I wuz all set t' figger they wuz hidin' in Prince Robert House.

Seems t' take a lot o' civil attack t' organize civil defense.

Incendiarism
Sends R.C.M.P.
To Kootenays16 Fires in Douk Country

NELSON, B.C., Sept. 17 (CP).—R.C.M.P. reinforcements have been sent to West Kootenay centres to combat a growing wave of incendiarism, it was reported here today.

Night patrols have been reinforced in Doukhobor districts, and additional police have been stationed at Trail, Nelson and Castlegar.

Police reported today 16 incendiary fires in the West Kootenay Doukhobor country this year. Several fires were reported in the last two weeks.

Two Doukhobors, members of the radical Sons of Freedom, now are in custody, both charged with arson.

Police today announced the arrest of Nick Konkin, a member of the Doukhobor colony at Brilliant. He has been charged with arson, but police did not disclose details of the case. He will appear in Nelson police court next week.

Last week, Paul Popoff, also of Brilliant, was charged with arson following a house fire at Castlegar.

Popoff is a member of the Sons of Freedom and he served a prison sentence, one of several hundred Doukhobors convicted of fire-raids in the Kootenays two years ago.

B.C. Coast Service
Hears Victorians'
Service Complaint

B.C. Coast Services general passenger agent, H. James, came to Victoria today to hear a Chamber of Commerce group's proposals for a reshuffle of fast steamships to give Victoria a better service to Vancouver.

Chamber president Tom Denny told the official: "There is wide discontent here."

The fact the night steamers from Victoria miss the transcontinental railway connection in Vancouver, necessitating a stop-over in the mainland city, is the chief complaint of Victorians.

Mr. James promised close study of the Victoria suggestions.

TORONTO, Sept. 17 (CP).—A grocery store proprietor today laid first claim to the $26,000 reward money posted for information leading to the capture of the Edwin Boyd gang.

Gordon Beauchamp, 37, said he called North York police at 6 p.m. Tuesday to inform them of his suspicions that the quartet—Edwin Boyd, Leonard Jackson, William Jackson and Steve Suchan—had sought shelter on a farm near his home.

B.C. Liberals to Contest All Seats

VANCOUVER, Sept. 17 (CP).—Liberals today pledged themselves to run candidates in all British Columbia ridings in the next provincial or federal election, it was reported.

The party's advisory council is meeting here today to discuss future plans.

No official statements were issued to the press following the opening session held behind closed doors.

Seventy-odd party chiefs, including former premier Byron Johnson and attorney-general Gordon S. Wismer, were in attendance.

VANCOUVER, Sept. 17 (CP).—The International Woodworkers of America (I.W.A.) will seek the release from jail of Tony Poje, union official, pending an appeal of his three-month sentence and $3,000 fine.

Poje, business agent for I.W.A. Local 1-80 at Duncan, was sentenced Tuesday by Chief Justice W. B. Farris on a contempt of court charge. Fourteen other I.W.A. members were fined $300 each.

Giants Close Gap to Three Games

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (AP).—The persistent New York Giants fought their way back to within three games of pace-setting Brooklyn today as big Jim Hearn pitched a five-hitter to shut out the Chicago Cubs 2-0.

The Giants picked up a full game on the Dodgers who were beaten by the tail-end Pittsburgh Pirates, 4-1, leaving both contenders with nine games left to play.

Trains Ready in Event of Strike

PORT ARTHUR, Sept. 17 (CP).—Railways could move Canada's bumper grain crop east from Winnipeg at about the same rate as lake shipping, a Lakehead railroad official said today.

The official said he believed the railways could move about 1,000,000 bushels of grain a day if Lakehead operators go on strike. Average shipping rate from here by water this month was slightly less than 1,000,000 bushels a day.

$10,000,000 Military Development

WINNIPEG, Sept. 17 (CP).—The Tribune today says in a newspaper story that construction of a new multi-million-dollar military development in southwest Winnipeg will commence next spring.

The project, including barrack blocks for both army and personnel and military supply buildings, will cost "anything between $5,000,000 and $10,000,000," according to a senior city official.

Grain Flow Hit
As Strike Nears

OTTAWA, Sept. 17 (CP).—The movement of prairie grain to its major outlet at Port Arthur and Fort William began slowing to a halt Tuesday with a federal government embargo on all further railway loading of grain for the lakehead.

The order, coupled with a threatened strike Thursday morning of lakehead grain handlers, provided a grave problem for western farmers faced with getting a record harvest to market.

The grain handlers, Tuesday night turned down a final offer of wage increases and other benefits by operators of the giant terminal elevator. Unless a last-minute settlement is reached at meetings today between the 15 elevator companies and the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks (A.F.L.), the 1,500 employees will go on strike at 8 a.m. Thursday.

Official reason for the order by Transport Controller R. W. Miller was a pile-up of grain at terminal elevators. But it appeared likely it was also a precaution against a pile-up of grain cars at the lakehead with no one to unload them.

The order did not affect cars already en route, but Mr. Miller said grain movement had practically ceased. Last week he had advised the railways to divert cars to other points. Shipments can still be made to Vancouver or Churchill or to any other point outside the lakehead.

Estimates by the Bureau of Statistics Tuesday forecast the prairie wheat crop at 651,000,000 bushels—more than 120,000,000 above last year's production at 531,000,000.

Forecasts for the west's five major crops, including wheat, totaled 1,320,040,000 bushels.

Pair Plead
Innocence
Of Murder

TORONTO, Sept. 17 (CP).—Steve Suchan and Leonard Jackson appeared in court today on a murder charge arising from the shooting last March of Det.-Sgt. Edmund Tong.

Police, armed with shotguns stood guard over the men, recaptured Tuesday night with Edwin Boyd and William Jackson. Both men pleaded innocent.

Chief Justice J. C. McRuer set Sept. 22 as the date for the start of the murder trial. He ordered Jackson to accept counsel.

Boyd and William Jackson are expected to face trial later on bank robbery charges.

Crown Attorney William Gibson said indictments against Suchan and Leonard Jackson were returned the day they escaped from Don Jail eight days ago.

Boyd, Canada's public enemy No. 1, surrendered meekly with his henchmen to two suburban detectives Tuesday night, bringing to an anticlimactic end the greatest criminal manhunt in Canada's history.

The four men who startled the country with their break from Toronto's Don Jail eight days ago and set off a "shoot-to-kill" police search, gave in without a battle, one of them muttering, "Don't shoot."

Boyd, Steve Suchan and William and Leonard Jackson were hustled in handcuffs from their hideout on an abandoned farm near Toronto and thrust for the night into cells in North York police station pending their return to the very cells in Don Jail from which they made their break.
